FOREWORD

Another year has passed. To have captured the events of this brief but impressive lapse of time in all its vividness would have been impossible; we, the SAWNEY Staff, have, therefore, chosen to portray—to paint a picture in both words and photography—the mood, the color, and especially the impression that Webb has extended to each of us. Another aspect that Webb lends to each individual lies in a realm far above the power of words or pictures to express; even though we remain silent, this aspect, devoted friendship, will live on with the memories of Webb forever in the hearts of the students.

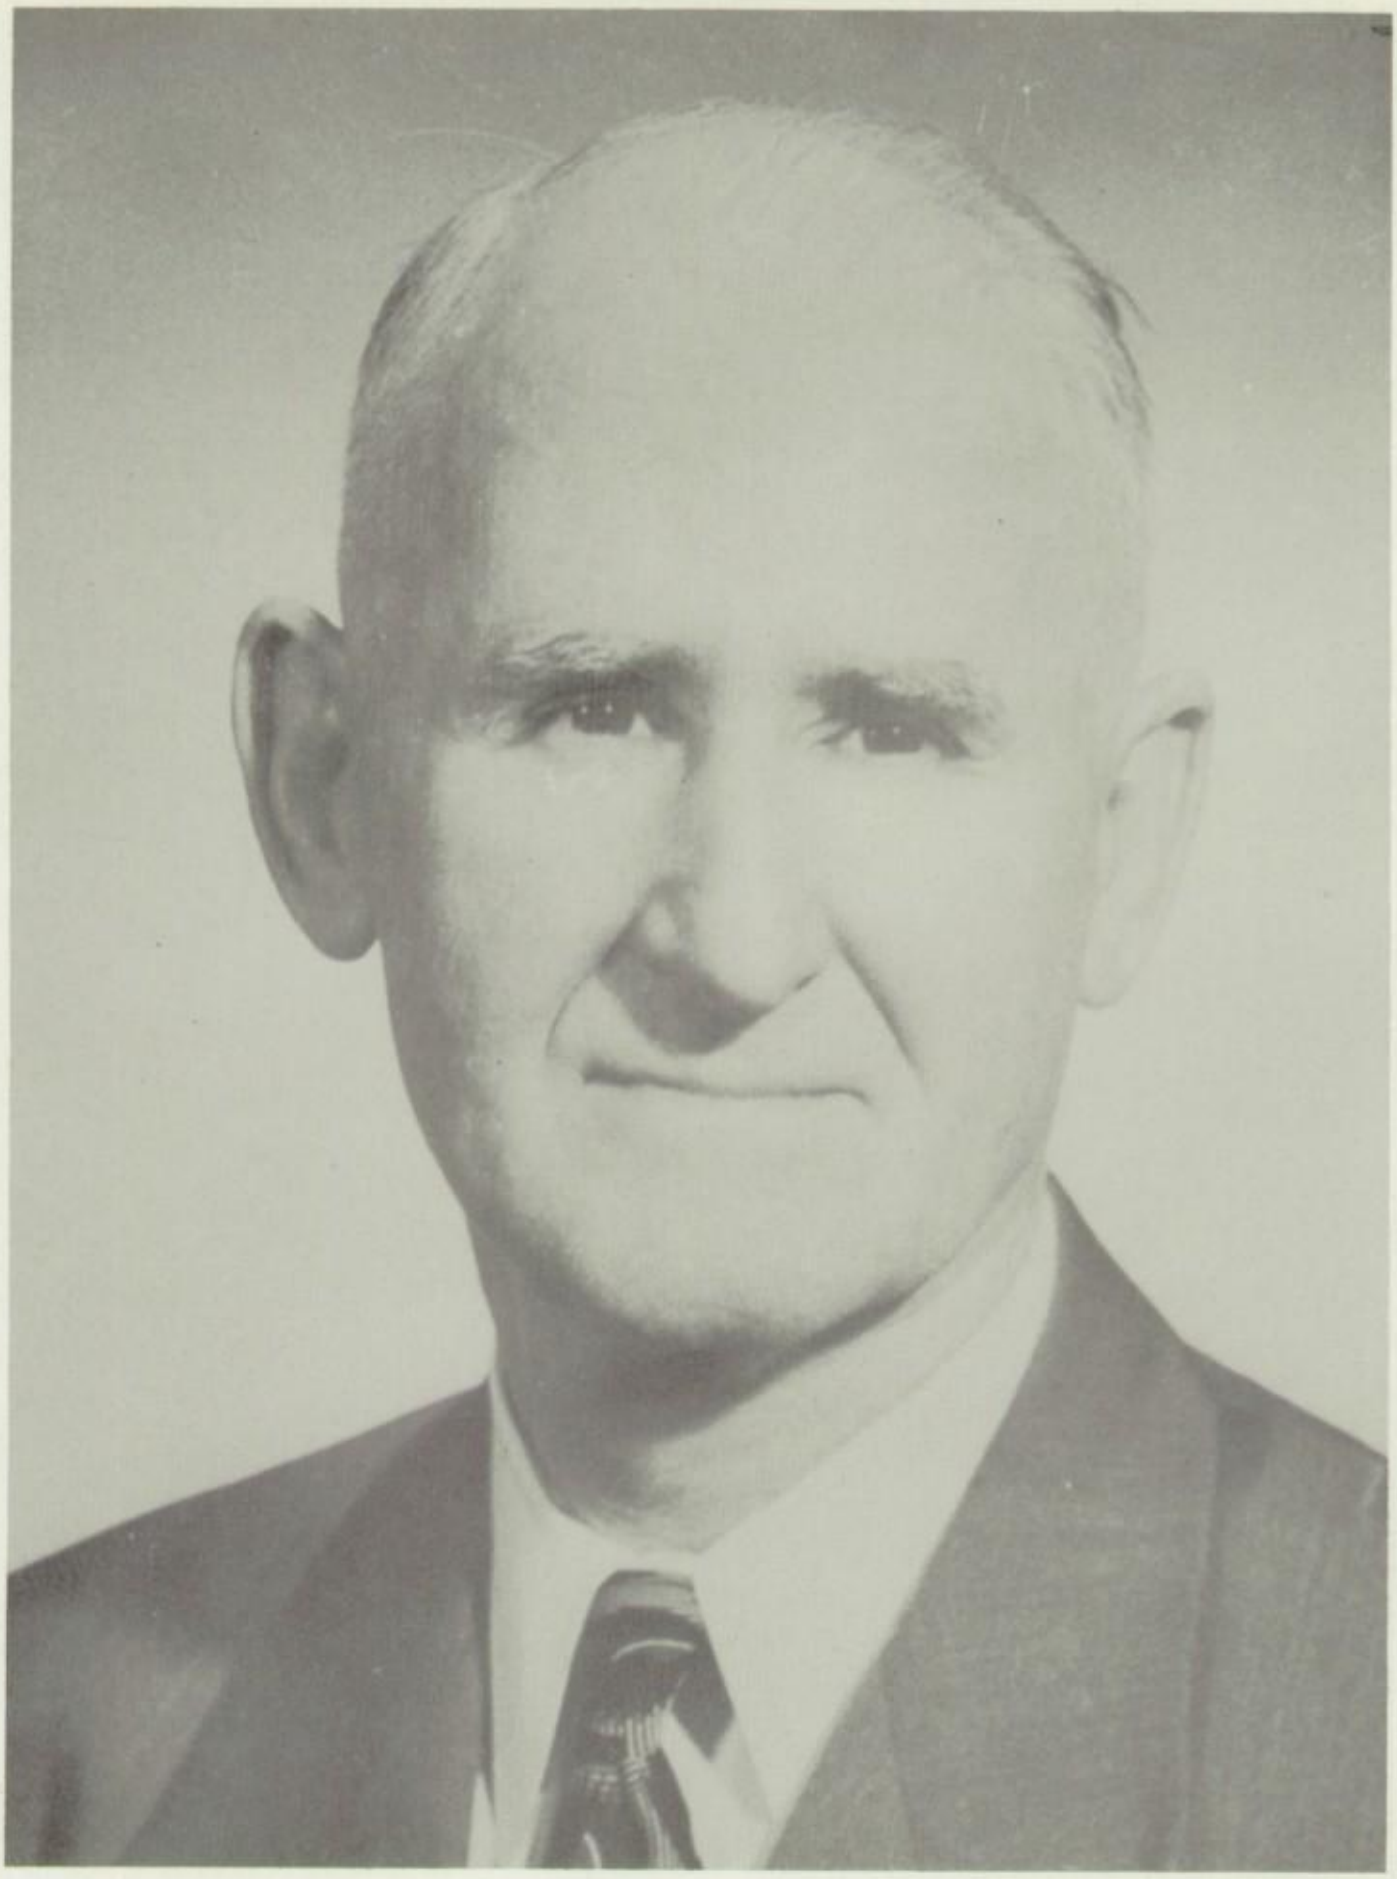
DEDICATION



To the Class of 1958

Every class is a mosaic. Each of the pieces are individual, distinctive, and often unlike the others. The artist fingers one, keenly looks at it, tentatively lays it in place, and stands off to study the effect. If the piece blends and contributes to the harmony of the whole it stays; if the effect is opposite, the artist discards it.

The class of 1958 is not unlike this. It has achieved a blending, a merging of the pieces. One moves back to attain objectivity in his scrutiny and the muses: "Yes, it is there. The impression is strong—cooperation."

The class of 1958 will be remembered for its cooperation.

CLASSES

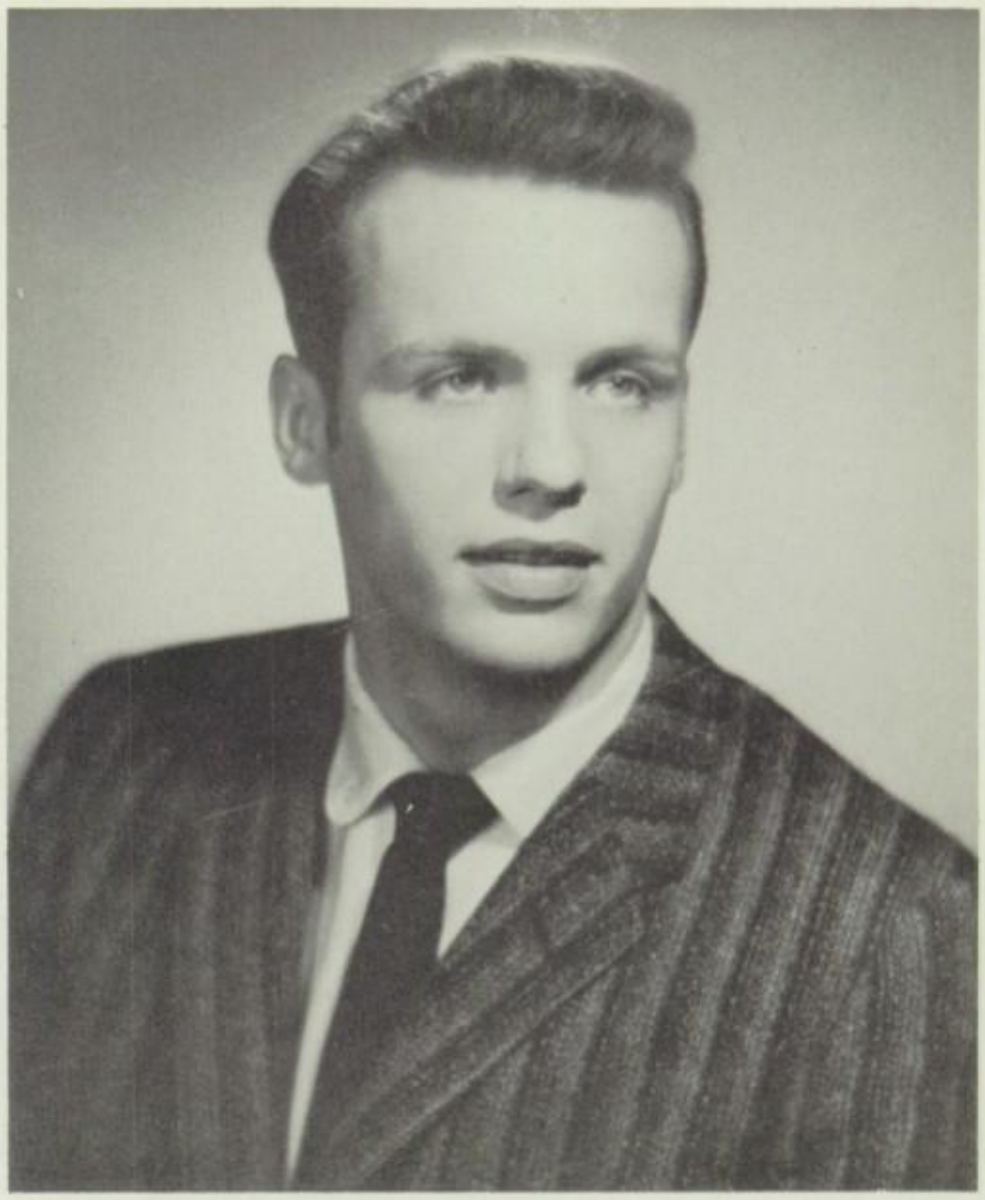
SENIOR CLASS

Class President
JAMES ERNEST EDENTON

When a class chooses its president it must look deep and consider its own needs and those of the school. This senior class chose Ernest to lead them because they needed a strong personality for that position. They needed a boy who could unite the school and gain the cooperation of all students. Ernest has met every demand and come up with favorable solutions in every case.

He stands high in the opinions of the boys at Webb, and because of this esteem, and because of his personality—one that has the tact and persuasiveness to get cooperation from all, yet still has time to be a friend to everyone—he was chosen to be the leader most suited for the presidency of his class.

Sports, studies, extra-curricular activities, all have been included in his field of operation, and his efforts as president of his class have been far beyond the call of duty. As a result, he has brought about a unity between the class and the rest of the school that is much to be desired but seldom accomplished. He will be long remembered and admired for what he has contributed to his school.



Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 2; Speech Club 3, 4; Prefect 4; President Class 4; Vice-President Class 3; Oracle 3, 4, Business Manager 4; SAWNEY 4, Business Manager 4; Chess Club 3; Dramatics 3, 4; Football 2, 3, All Webb 3; Basketball 2, 3, 4; Track 2, 3, 4; Years at Webb 2, 3, 4.

SENIORS

JAMES BUFORD ANDERSON

Webb School has a reputation for turning out fine men, but there must be the raw material for the finished product. The raw material must be a boy who is willing to put forth his best effort in every phase of his life. Such a boy is Buford Anderson. He came to Webb in his junior year and immediately began to make a name for himself. His grades have always been at the top, and he was elected to Cum Laude Society in his junior year. His extra-curricular program has always been full, also.

Besides his class work, Buford's main interest seems to be in the field of public speaking, and the Platonic Debating Society has chosen him for two years for the annual debates against their sister society.

He has been an ideal student and one that upholds the prestige of Webb School. Boys for many years can look at Buford's record and use his achievements as their goals. If they set up such goals for themselves and reach them, they can be glad of a job well done.

Achievements

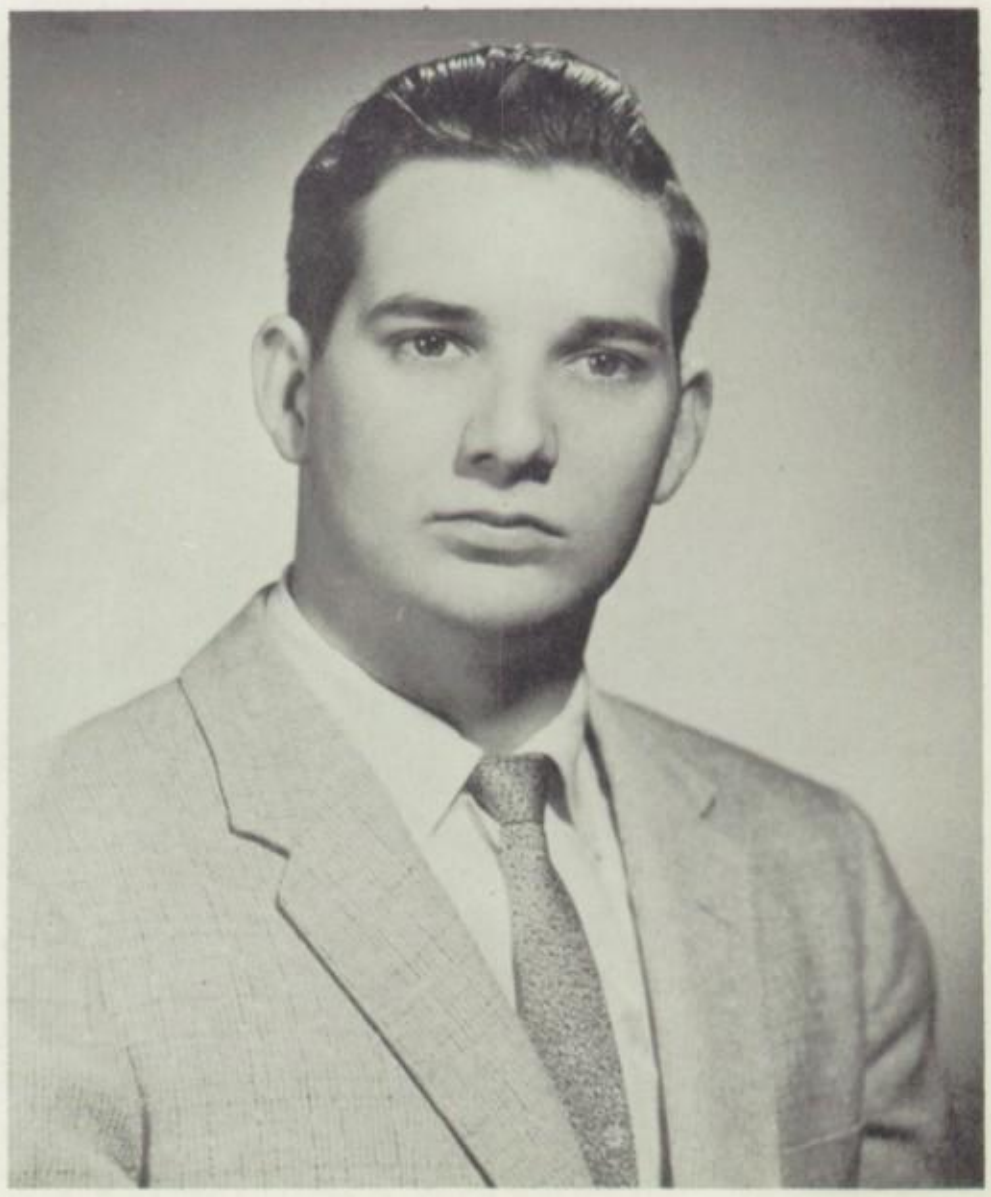
Platonic Debating Society 3, 4, President 3, 4, Vice-President 4, Secretary 3, 4, Marshal 3; Mid-term Debater 3; Final Debater 4; Senior Prefect 4; Cum Laude Society 3, 4; Honor Committee 3, 4, Vice-President 4; Oracle 3, 4, Assistant Editor 4; SAWNEY 4, Editor 4; Dramatics Club 3, 4, Stage Manager 3, 4; Scouts 3, Senior Patrol Leader 3; Basketball 3, 4; Baseball 3, 4; Track 4; Band 3, 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.

JAMES BARNETT

James Barnett is a post-graduate who came from Orlando to Webb to complete his high school education. Jim has made himself a very popular person during his short stay here. He is a hard worker and uses his study time to full advantage. He is fond of sports and budgets his time so that he may spend as much as possible on those pursuits in which he is most interested. He has a sunny disposition and has made many good friends here at Webb who will regret to see him leave when commencement time comes. Wherever he goes to college his clear thinking and candid outlook on life will make him the same success that he has been in prepschool.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 4; Football 4, All-Webb 4; Basketball 4; Years at Webb 4.



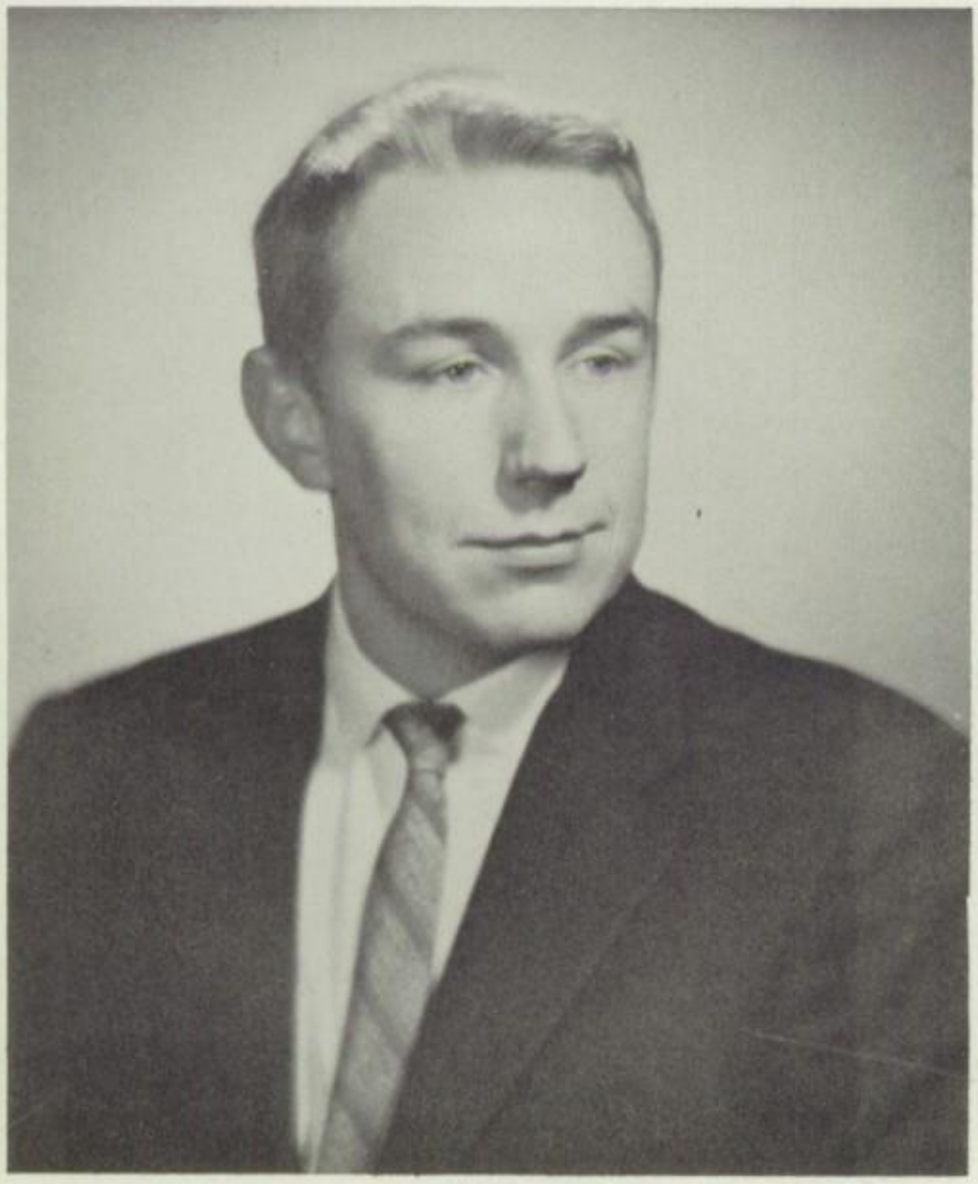
SENIORS

HARRIS POTTER CANTRELL

One of Webb's outstanding seniors is Potter Cantrell. From the time he arrived in Bell Buckle from Liberty, Tennessee, he showed such enthusiasm for his school work that it may be said of him that he came knowing what he was here for, and set out at once to accomplish the task of getting a good preparation for college. His grades have been high because of his application and his strong desire to do well. In his first year his interests were limited to scholastic pursuits, but in his next three years they have branched out to include a number of extra-curricular activities and sports. The chief sport in which he has taken part, and in which he excells, is basketball. He is a member of the Platonic Debating Society in which he has held several offices. As boys look back through the Webb year books they will find Potter among those students who have contributed much to the school.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 1, 4, Vice-President 4, Secretary 4; Vice-President Class 1, Marshal 3, Secretary 4; Cum Laude Society 3, 4; Honor Committee 3, 4; Prefect 4; Current Events Club 1, 2; Projection Crew 2, 3; Dramatics Club, 3, 4; Oracle 4; Basketball 2, 3, 4; Baseball 2, 3, 4; Years at Webb 1, 2, 3, 4.



JAMES MURRAY DAVIS

James Murray Davis is another Webb boy from Memphis. In the two years that he has been in Bell Buckle he has made many fast friends among the students and faculty. He is an earnest and conscientious person and attempts to do well whatever he is asked to do. His class marks have been above the average because he has been persistent in his scholastic pursuits. In addition to these efforts in books he has been interested in many extra-curricular activities of a diversified nature.

All in all, James Murray might be called a "gentleman of excellent parts." With his preparation here and his wide range of interests, he should have a successful college career wherever he goes.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 3, 4, Vice-President 4; Prefect 4; Oracle 3; Dramatics Club 4; Basketball 3, 4; Baseball 3, 4; Scouts 3; Years at Webb 3, 4.

SENIORS

WILLIAM LEWIS DURDEN

When Bill came to Webb in his sophomore year he immediately began making friends and acquaintances by his jovial manner and friendly disposition. Many boys are gifted in a great many fields and Bill well fits into this category. He has taken part in almost every extra-curricular activity offered at Webb. He has demonstrated an adeptness in sports by playing football, basketball and baseball. To his debating society he has given much time and he has, likewise, contributed much to the band since he is especially gifted in music.

He plans to attend Emory University in Atlanta, his home town. When he enrolls in that institution, we may be sure that the same qualities and characteristics that have made him successful at Webb will do as much for him there.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 2, 3, 4, Secretary 4; Oracle 4, Typing Editor 4; SAWNEY 4, Typing Editor 4; Band 2, 3, 4; Dance Band 2, 3, 4; Football 2, 3, 4, All-Webb 4, Captain Tigers 4; Basketball 2, 3, 4; Baseball 3, 4; Track 2, 3, 4; Years at Webb 2, 3, 4.

JAMES SHOOK EATHERLY

James Eatherly came to Webb as a freshman four years ago, and through his participation in many activities has really become a part of Webb. When he is graduated and departs he will miss Webb and Webb will miss him proportionately. As a member of the Dramatics Club he has served it well by doing anything that had to be done. Also in athletics, especially football, he has served in almost every capacity, from quarterback to referee.

However, James' time has not all been spent in extra-curricular activities and sports. He has spent much more time in studying than in playing, as is evidenced by his better than average grades. James has a friendly, well rounded personality and should do well in whatever he undertakes.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 4; Dramatics Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Speech Club 3, 4; Football 2, 3, 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Baseball 1, 2, 3, 4; Track 1, 2, 3, 4; Years at Webb 1, 2, 3, 4.

SENIORS

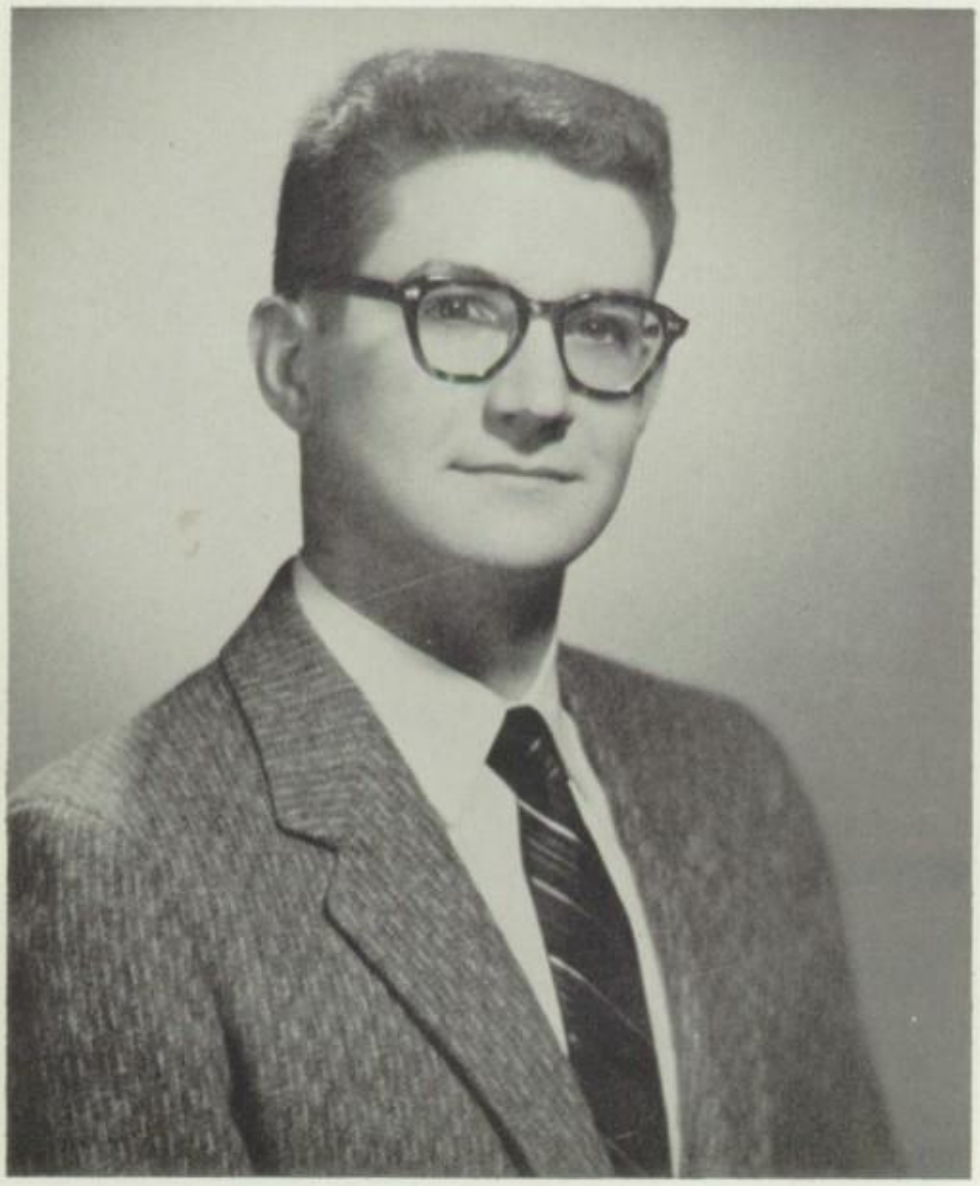
HENRY WELLS GARDEN

Enrolling as a freshman Wells brought a likable personality and a spark of energy that has lasted through his four years at Webb. Wells will probably be best remembered for his portrayal of several rather difficult roles in plays presented by the Dramatics Club. No matter what he is doing he does it with the same enthusiasm that he lends to his acting, and in his quiet, unassuming manner gives it his time and his best effort.

Wells has proven himself equally adept in classwork, sports and debating. Upon being elected to the office of president by both the Hamilton Debating Society, and the Dramatics Club, he capably fulfilled the duties of both offices, and at the same time maintained his high scholastic average. In every field of endeavor, Wells has shown himself to be fully capable of meeting its demands.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 1, 2, 3, 4, President 4; Alternate Final Debate 4; Oracle 2, 3, 4; Dramatics Club 3, 4, President 4; Vice-President Class 2, Secretary-Treasurer 3; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Baseball 1, 2, 3; Track 1, 2, 3, 4, High Point Man 3; Years at Webb 1, 2, 3, 4.



JAMES McDUFF GLENN

The search for the most studious boy in school would inevitably lead to Duff Glenn. Duff has shown the faculty and his school mates that it is not impossible to study a great deal and still have a well rounded life at Webb. In addition to being studious and industrious, he is very friendly and tolerant. As a result of these outstanding characteristics, he has the respect and friendship of student body and faculty alike. He is one student of whom it can really be said that he knows why he is at Webb and takes advantage of his time for study.

In his amiable and pleasant way he seems to consider his school work an opportunity to spend his teen-age days pleasantly rather than as a burdensome task. This attitude is a key that will open for Duff many doors of tomorrow.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 3, 4; Oracle 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.

SENIORS

RONALD HOMER GRESHAM

Ronnie is a one-year man and a post-graduate but in his one year he has made a friend of everyone in school. He has proved himself to be a hard worker both by his application to his books and his grades. Although he has been able to keep his grades up, he is best known for his achievements in the field of sports, especially on the basketball court. His excellent coordination makes him an outstanding performer and a formidable opponent both in basketball and volleyball.

Ronnie can usually be found either in his room studying, or in the gym; wherever he is he will be doing the right thing, and that is high praise. As the class of 1958 separates and the members go their individual ways one boy's name will ramain pleasantly in the mind of all the others, Ronnie Gresham.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 4, Marshal 4; Oracle 4; Basketball 4; Track 4; Years at Webb 4.

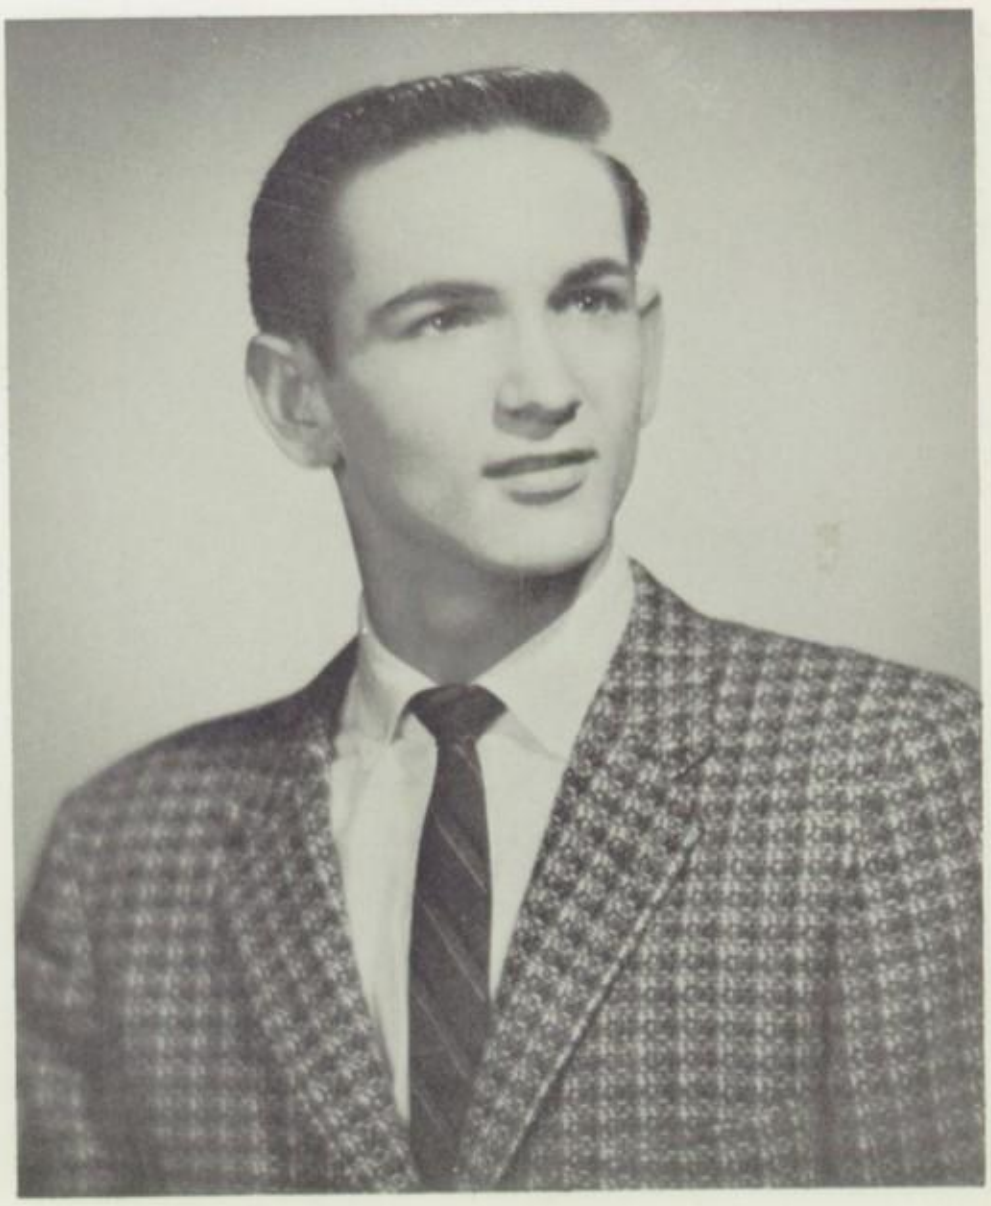
GLENN WADDELL HALL

Entering any school at mid-term and adjusting to the routine and spirit of the place is no easy task, but it is one that Glenn Hall accomplished when he came to Webb in the middle of his junior year. Interested in almost all phases of the life at Webb he has taken part in many extra-curricular activities while keeping his grades above average. He goes about his activities, whether scholastic or extra-curricular, in a quiet, matter-of-fact way that accomplishes results with little noise and effort. He has been active in the Platonic Debating Society, and has given time and efficient service to the Dramatics Club as a member of the stage crew. He has also been active in athletics, in basketball, track and baseball.

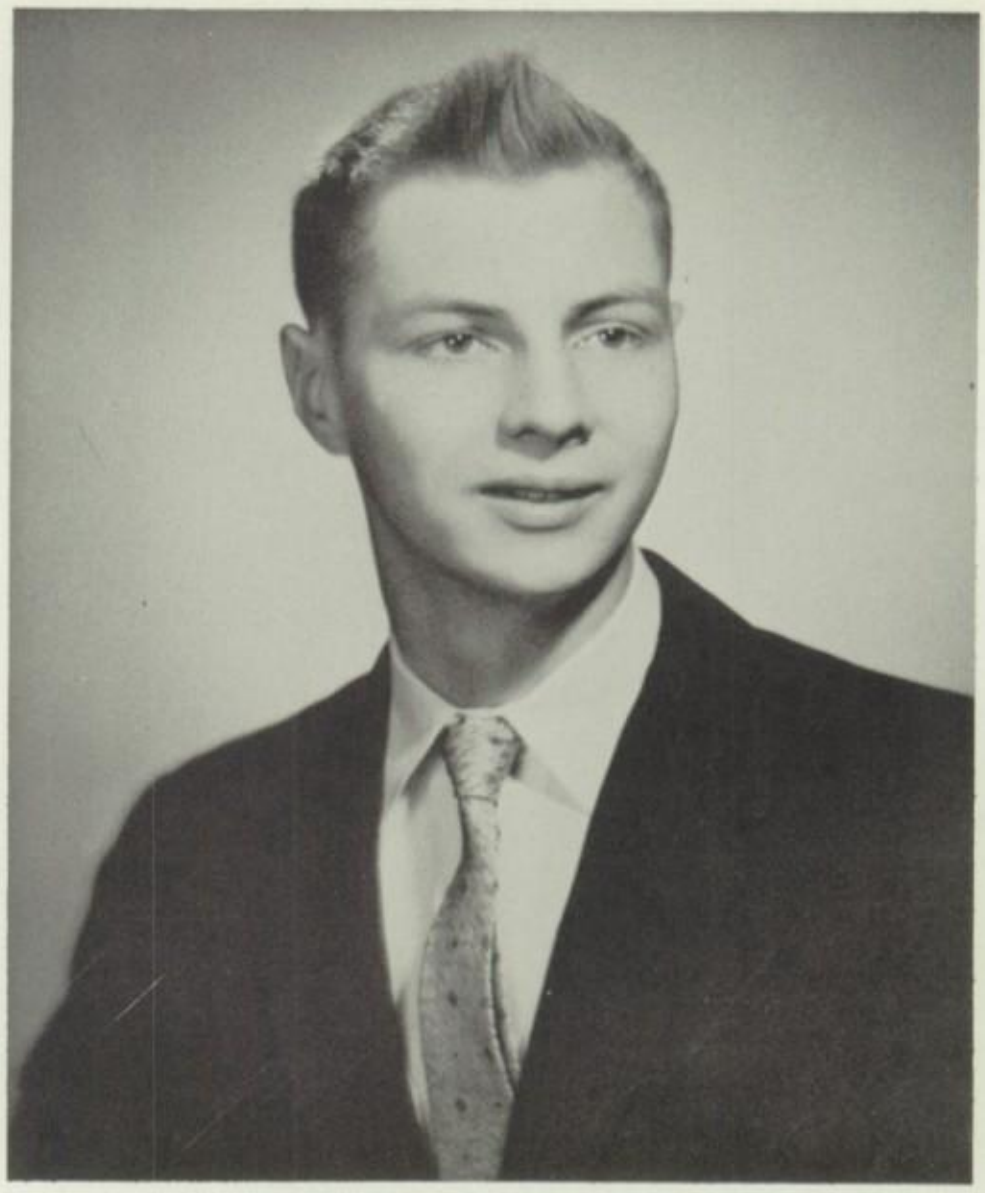
Although Glenn has been in school at Webb a comparatively short time he will be missed when he leaves in June with the coveted Bible.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 3, 4; Current Events Club 3; Dramatics Club 4; Basketball 3, 4; Baseball 4; Track 3, 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.



SENIORS



JAMES MICHAEL LARKAN

When we consider the seniors at Webb School who have set their minds on a genuine purpose for themselves and are constantly at work to carry it out, we must give consideration to Mickey Larkan. He has shown himself to be one of the most versatile boys in school. He has been on the All-Webb football team, played league and Tiger-Bulldog basketball, and is one of the most valuable track men in the senior class. He is also gifted in music and has played in the school band both years that he has been in Webb. Many times a boy's accomplishments are limited to one field but this is not true of Mickey. His grades are witness to his hard work and his constant application to his studies, of which physics and math interest him most. We may be sure that when he majors in college in aeronautical engineering he will be successful.

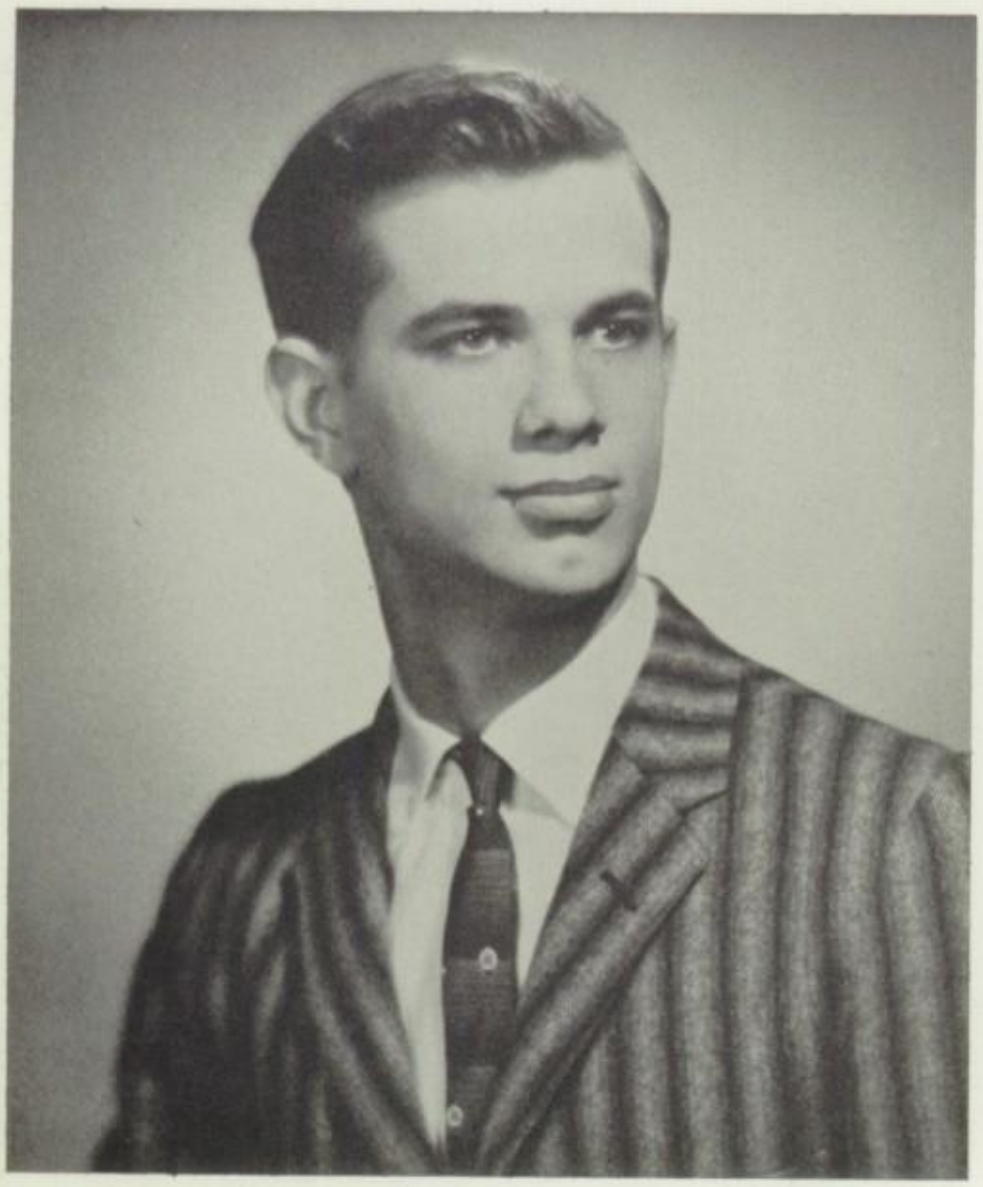
Achievements

Speech Club 3, 4; Dramatics Club 4; Current Events Club 3; Band 3, 4; Dance Band 3, 4; Football 3, 4; Basketball 3, 4; Track 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.



LEON LEVY

Lee Levy came to Webb in his junior year and immediately began to blend in with the Webb scene. Amiable and agreeable to the point of being imposed upon, he nevertheless has a host of friends among the students. His activities have been varied since he has been at Webb. He has been a member of the Platonic Debating Society for two years; he has served on the Oracle Staff his junior and senior years as Variety Editor, and has acted in the same capacity for the SAWNEY. Lee's activities have not been all literary for he has played football and basketball both of his years at Webb. He plans to finish his education at the University of Tennessee.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 3, 4; Oracle 3, 4, Variety Editor 4; SAWNEY 4, Variety Editor 4; Chess Club 3; Football 3, 4; Basketball 3; Years at Webb 3, 4.

SENIORS

JOSEPH CREACH MONTGOMERY

Webb School owes much to the select group of boys whose humor and wit aid greatly in maintaining the spirit and morale of the student body. Certainly Joe Montgomery is one of the foremost members of this group, for he is well known and liked among his fellow students for his jovial nature. This nature also radiates sincerity and Joe's regard for his fellow students has gained him the respect of all those with whom he comes in contact. Joe is from Monroe, Louisiana, and has been at Webb for the past three years. Throughout this time he has shown his belief in the adage "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," but he has also demonstrated a steadfast regard for his duties. Joe's career in school will be continued at Tulane University where his genial personality will, no doubt, win for him the same type of success in college that he has enjoyed in prep school.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 2, 3, 4, Vice-President 4, Marshal 4; Oracle 2, 3, 4; Current Events 2, 3, 4; Dramatics Club 2, 3, 4; Basketball 2; Baseball 2, 3; Years at Webb 2, 3, 4.

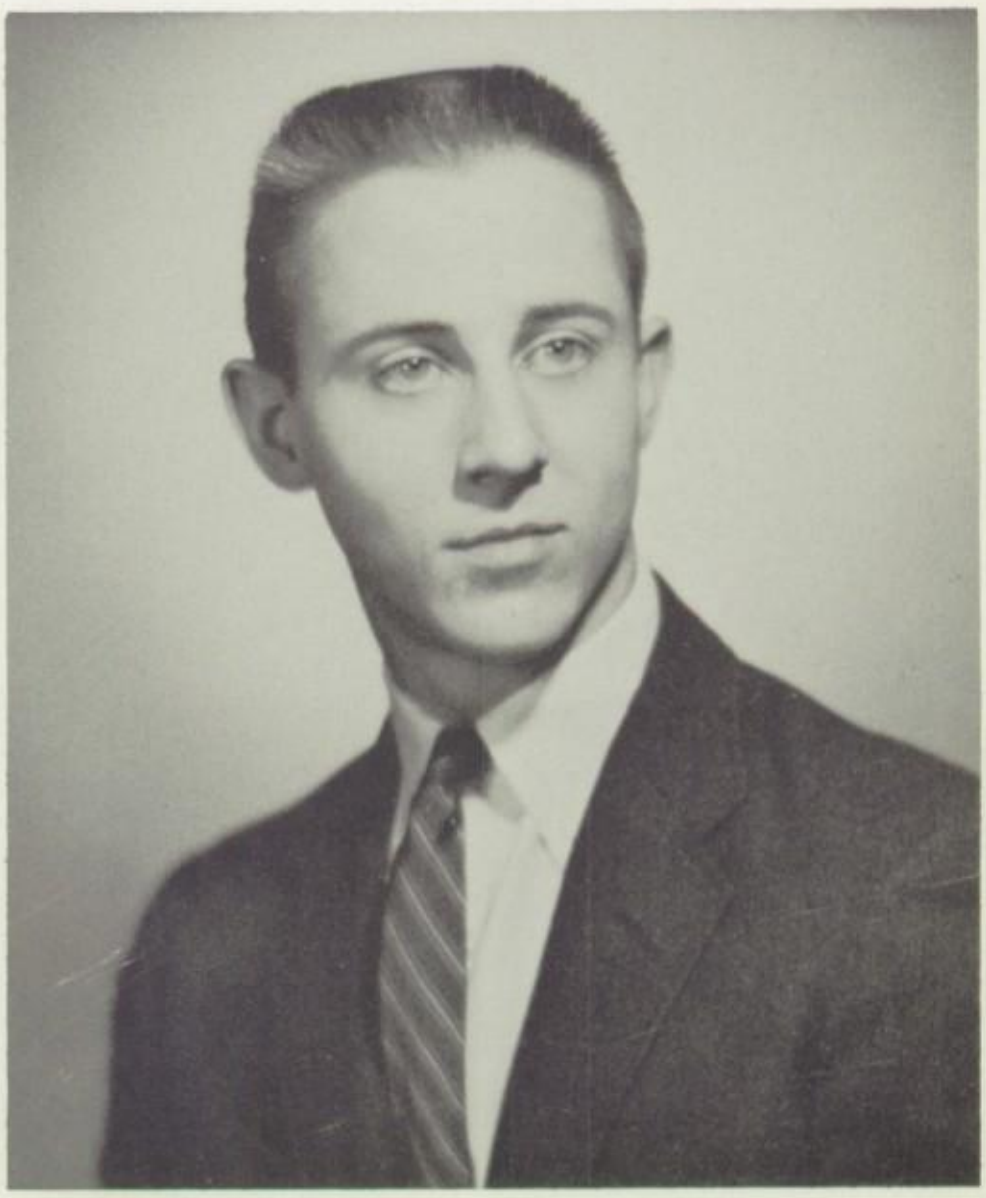
JOSEPH BLEDSOE MURPHEY

When a boy loves the outdoors as much as Joe Murphey does, then he could have picked no better place to go to school than Webb. All of Joe's scouting ability has been demonstrated in the country surrounding Webb. But do not get the idea that scouting is Joe's only talent. Scouting only offers the foundation for the strict self-discipline that Joe applies to his school work. Hard, conscientious work and faithful perseverence are only two of the terms that can be used to describe Joe's scholastic record, which is one that he can review with pride. The fact that he has the ability to accept burdensome responsibility is a splendid recommendation for the future. Two coveted honors have come to Joe as a result of his efforts at Webb —a prefectship and election into the Cum Laude Society.

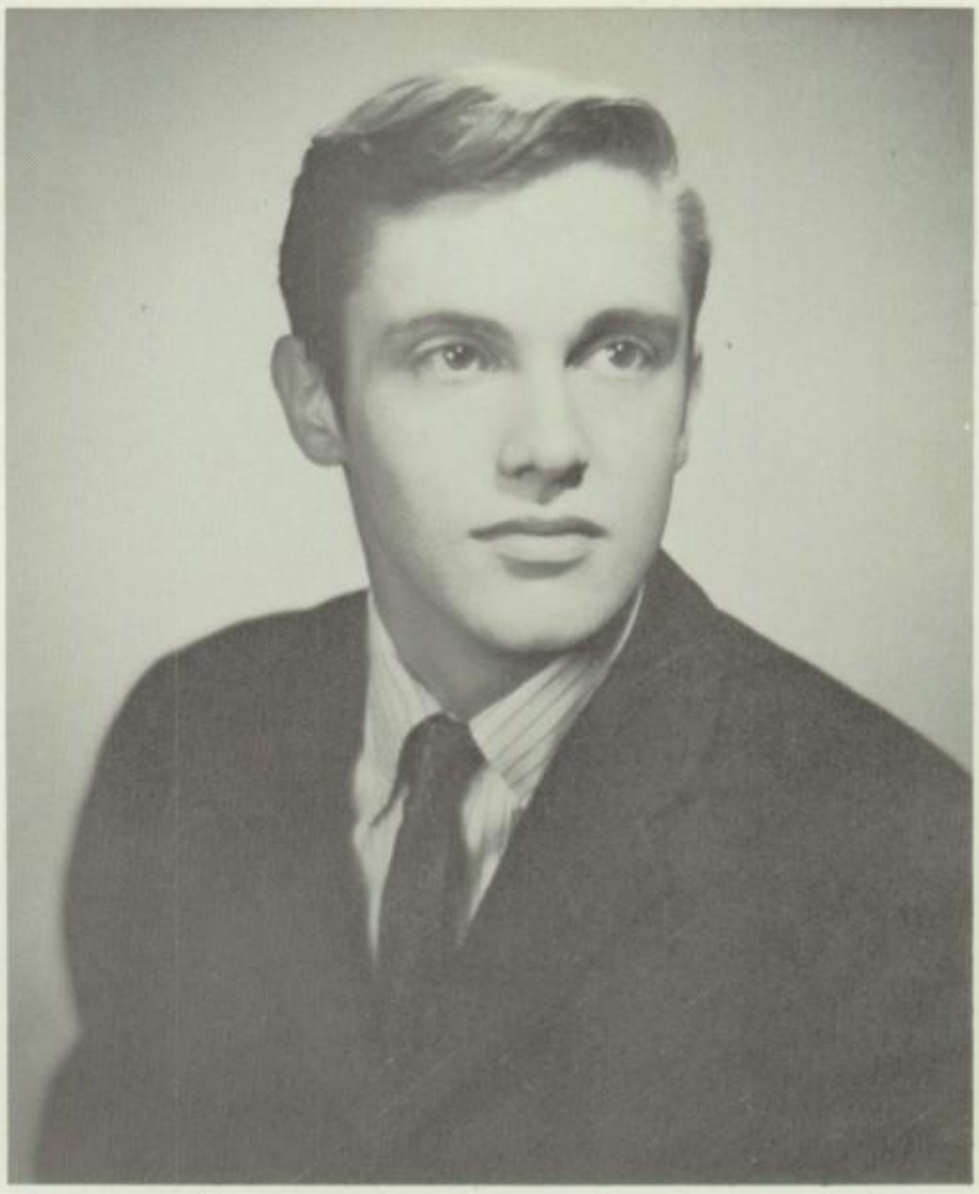
If Joe continues in college as he has done in secondary school we have no fears for his future.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 1, 2, 3, 4, Secretary 4, Marshal 4; Football 2, 3; Baseball 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Track 1, 2, 3, 4; Boy Scouts 2, 3, 4; Dramatics Club 4; Cum Laude Society 4; Prefect Council 4; SAWNEY Staff 4; Class Secretary 1; Old Guard.



SENIORS

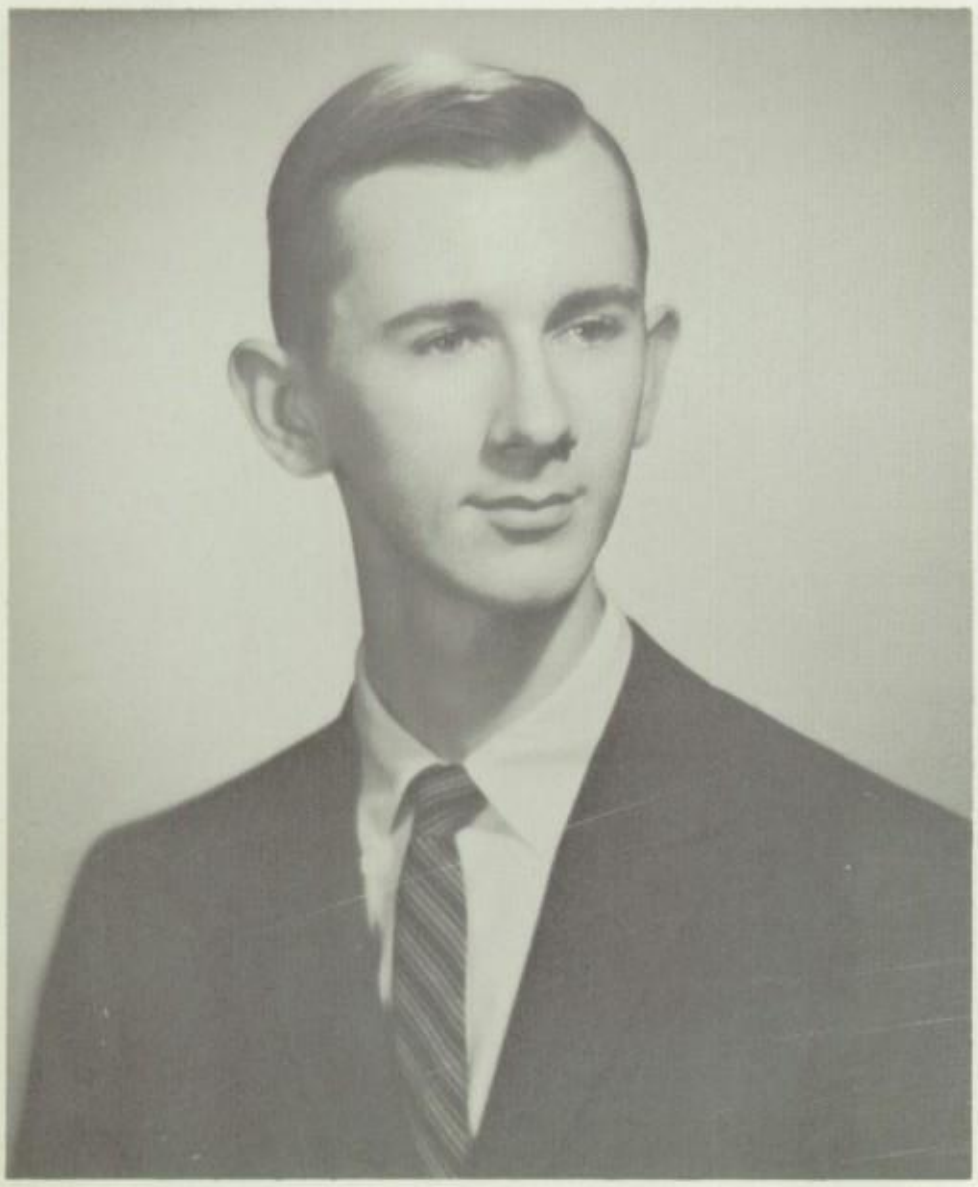


ROBERT FREDRICK McDOWELL

Bobby McDowell, highly intelligent and well read, is a well rounded person socially and scholastically. In his three years at Webb his grades have been good at all times, because of his ability to learn quickly whatever he hears or reads. He is popular on the campus because of his sunny disposition which seems to rub off a little on those with whom he comes in contact. He is an active boy who never refuses to undertake any job assigned to him, and almost without exception he has completed every task that he has undertaken. Bobby is one of a number of boys who have come to Webb from Monroe, Louisiana. This city has always had a good representation in Webb, and all of them have done well for themselves. Bobby has upheld this tradition during his three years at Webb. When he returns to Louisiana this June, on leaving Bell Buckle for the last time, he will leave behind him a record of which the folks at home can well be proud.

Achievements

Speech Club 3, 4; Current Events 3; Marshal Class 2; Band 2, 3; Dramatics Club 4; Baseball 2, 4; Basketball 4; Track 4; Years at Webb 2, 3, 4.



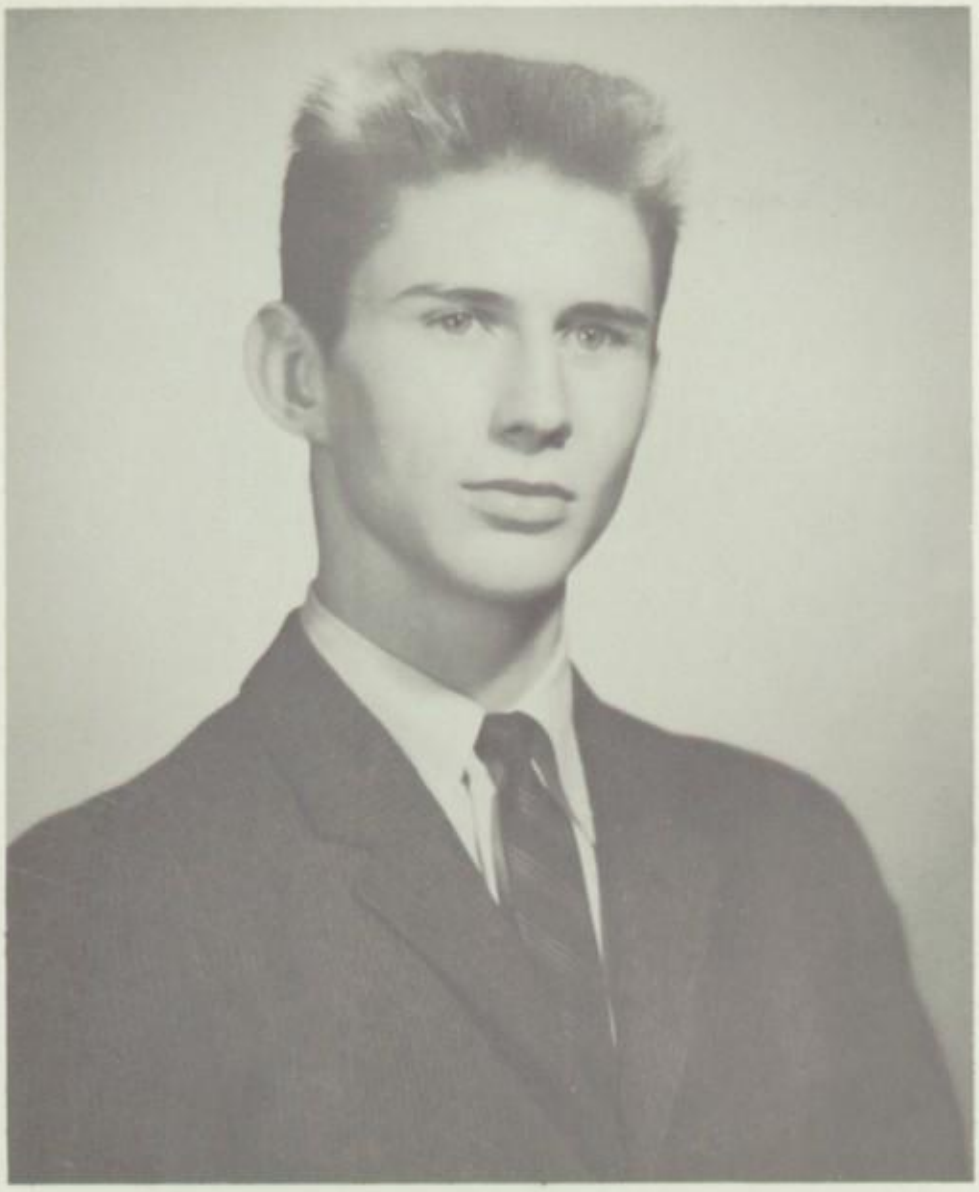
WILLIAM THOMAS POWERS

Bill is a member of the "Old Guard"; he came to Bell Buckle in the fall of 1954 and immediately set to work to reach the goal of high marks.

Bill has been a consistently good student in all his classes during his four years at Webb, but he makes his best grades in those subjects in which he has the most interest–science and mathematics. He has not had too much trouble reaching the goal he set for himself because of his keen intellect and hard work. His leisure time is spent for the most part on radio and hi-fidelity. Next year Bill plans to attend Georgia Tech and pursue his scientific courses. With his background he should have no trouble holding himself to the high standards he has set.

Achievements

Speech Club 3, 4; Dormitory Council 2; Platonic Debating Society 1; Oracle 1, 2, 3, 4; Projection Crew 4; Years at Webb 1, 2, 3, 4.



SENIORS

ALBERT VERNON RICHMOND

Albert Vernon Richmond came to Webb as a sophomore from the High School of Lake Cormorant, Mississippi. Being the youngest member of the senior class he has been subjected to much friendly teasing by his classmates. By his unfailing good humor he has won a high place in the regard and respect of everyone with whom he has been associated and has proved his good sportsmanship on many occasions.

He believes in budgeting his time so that he can include both work and recreation, and in the latter has included sports, dramatics and debating society, where he has held office at various times. In his senior year he was chosen to serve as one of the prefects in Rand Hall.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 4, Vice-President 4, Secretary 4, Marshal 4; Speech Club 3; Dramatics Club 4; Prefect 4; Football 2, 3; Basketball 2, 3; Baseball 2, 3, 4; Years at Webb 2, 3, 4.

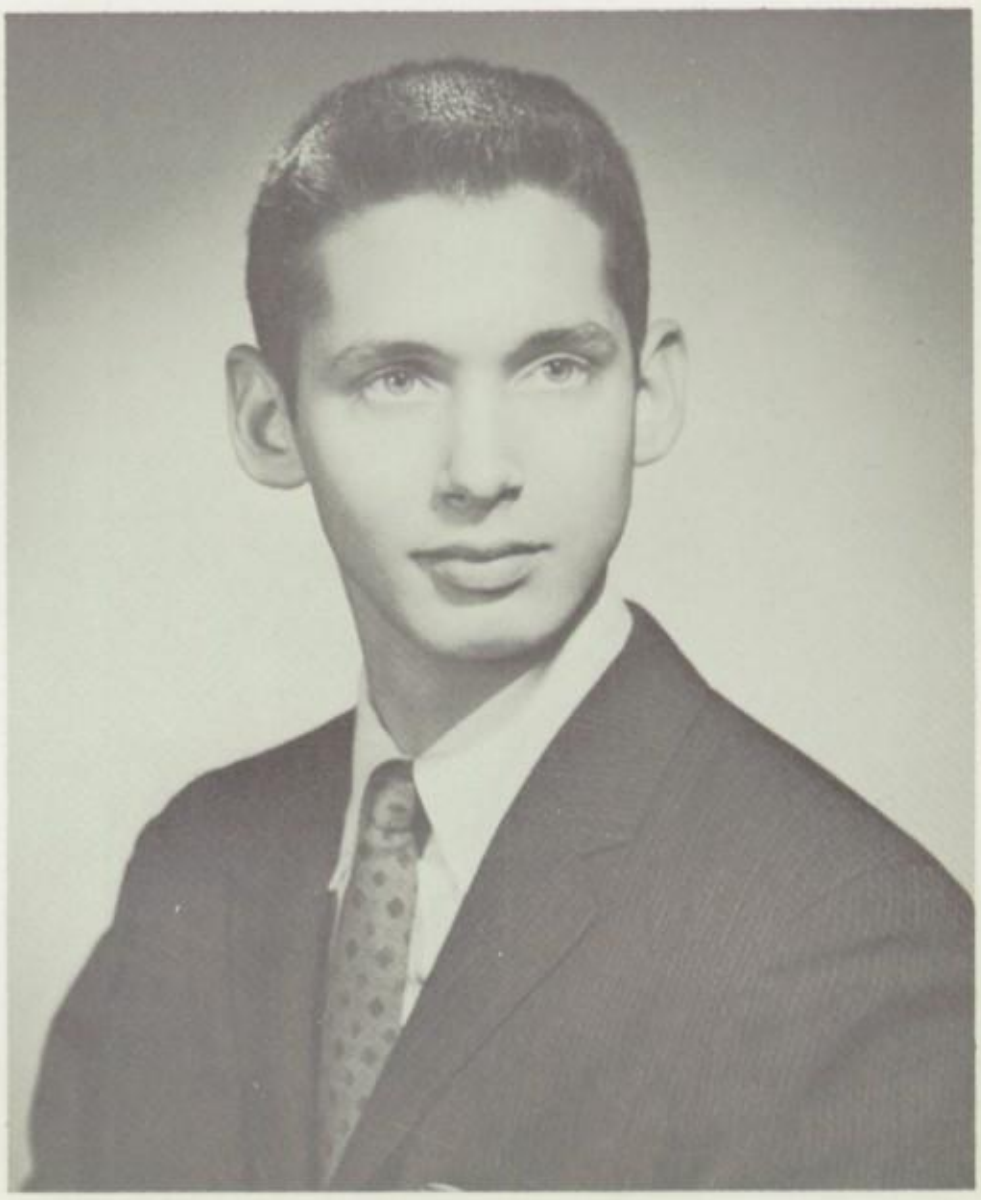
JOE ROSENBAUM

To become a part of an institution as old and traditional as Webb School in nine months time is a difficult thing to do. In a very quiet, unobtrusive way Joe Rosenbaum has succeeded in doing this thing rather well. He has done conscientious work in his classes and at the same time managed to take part in a number of extra-curricular activities. He is a member of the Speech Club and of the Dramatics Club and has been active in several sports, making the All-Webb in basketball.

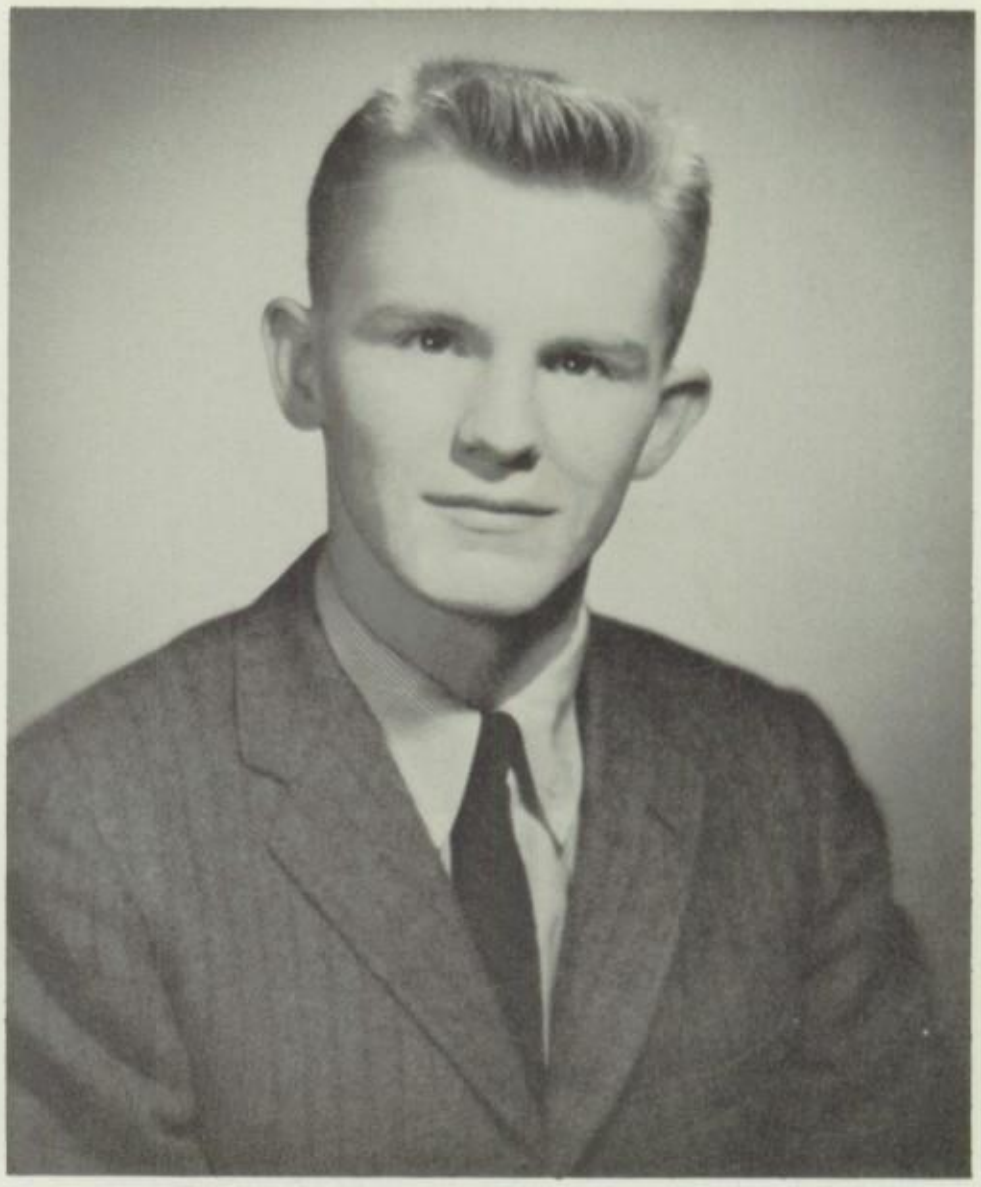
Altogether it can be said of Joe that he is a well-rounded person and should do well in whatever college he attends or whatever vocation he enters.

Achievements

Speech Club 4; Oracle 4; Dramatics Club 4; Basketball 4, All-Webb 4; Baseball 4; Track 4; Years at Webb 4.



SENIORS



FRED FOSTER RUDDER

One of the most outstanding members of the senior class is Fred Rudder. For two years Fred has maintained a record unsurpassed by any other member of the senior class. He has applied himself in many different fields, but he is best known for his scholastic achievements. Usually modest and retiring, when the occasion arises to express an opinion regarding behavior or right and wrong Fred does not hesitate to stand for the right way. He has carried many responsibilities, and has shown himself to be an earnest and untiring worker.

Because of Fred's intelligence, record, and his will to do well, it is certain that he will accomplish whatever he sets out to do both in college and in later life. When he leaves, Webb will certainly be losing one of its finest students and hardest workers.

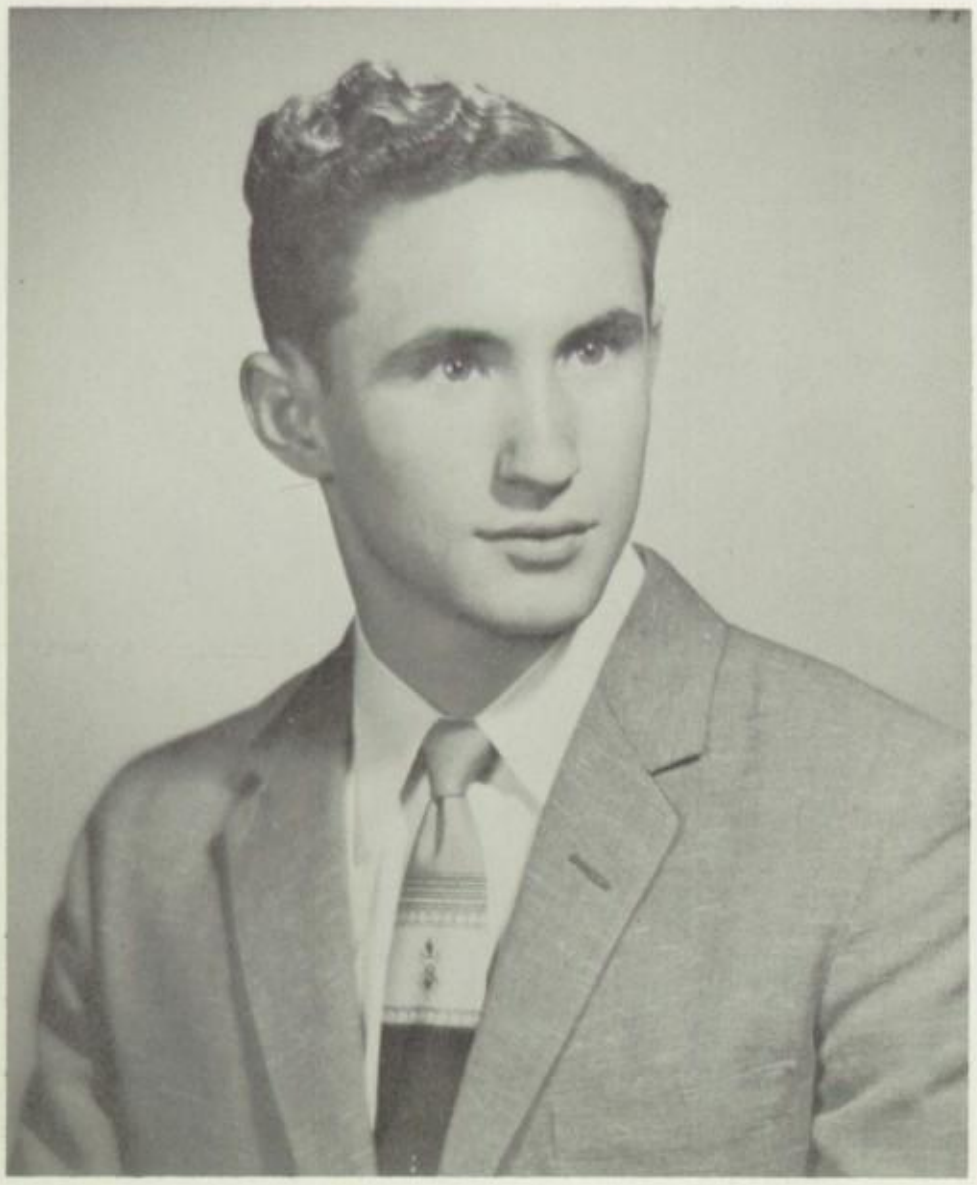
Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 3, 4, President 3, Vice-President 4, Secretary 4; Prefect 4; Honor Committee 4, Secretary 4; Cum Laude Society 3, 4; Dramatics Club 3, 4; Current Events Club 3; Years at Webb 3, 4.



EDWARD WALKER SMITH

Ed has been at Webb for three years and during that time he has proved himself to be one of the most industrious and hardest working boys in his class. He possesses an untiring will and devotion toward his studies and any other duties placed upon him. His quiet manner and quick smile have made him many friends during his schooldays at Webb, although he is a day student and does not have as much time as he would like for association with his schoolmates. Also, being a day student has kept him from taking part in some of the activities he would have enjoyed. He has been a member of the Hamilton Debating Society and has served as officer at various times. Ed is definitely to be placed among the successes produced by Webb School, and we wish him the best of everything in his plans to continue his academic career in the U. S. Air Force Academy next fall.

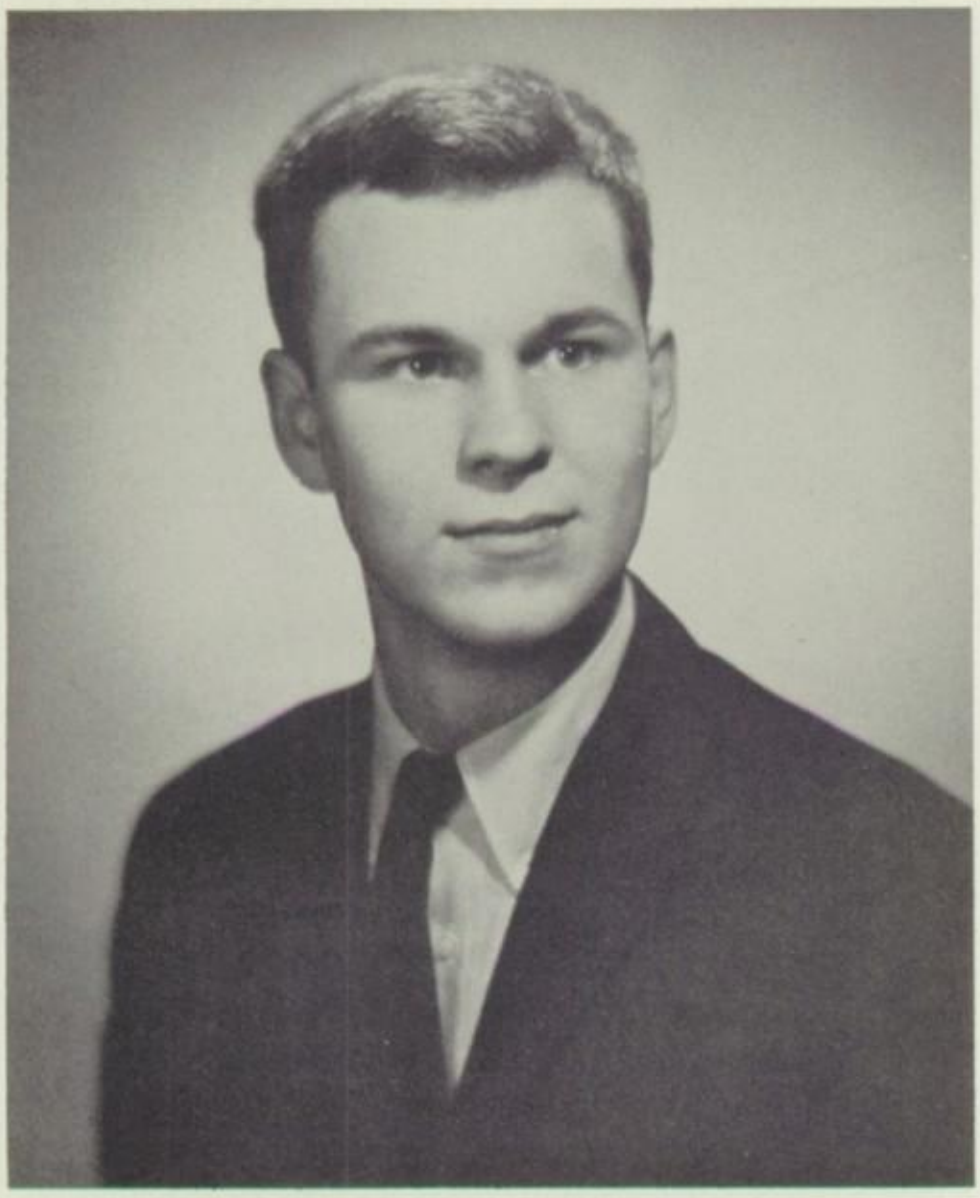
Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 3, 4, President 4; Marshal Class 4; Winner Sophomore Commencement Oratorical Contest 2; Current Events Club 2, 4, Marshal 4; Years at Webb 2, 3, 4.



SENIORS

PETER HILTON SMITH

Peter Smith of Birmingham entered Webb as a junior, and from the first, he has demonstrated his ability to do whatever he was assigned and to stick to it until it was finished. His school work has not been neglected, but while keeping his grades up to the requirements, he has managed to take part in many activities offered by Webb. He has been prominent in debating, and has, with his artistic ability, been a valuable member of the production crew of the Dramatics Club. He has worked also with the Oracle. However he has not been entirely literary and bookish because he has played basketball, baseball, and tennis as part of his physical education program. Peter is considering the University of the South as his Alma Mater.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 3, 4, President 3, 4, Yearly Secretary 4, Mid-term Debater 3, Final Debater 4; Dramatics Club 3, 4, Secretary 4; Oracle 3, 4; Social Committee 3, 4; Basketball 4; Baseball 4; Track 3, 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.

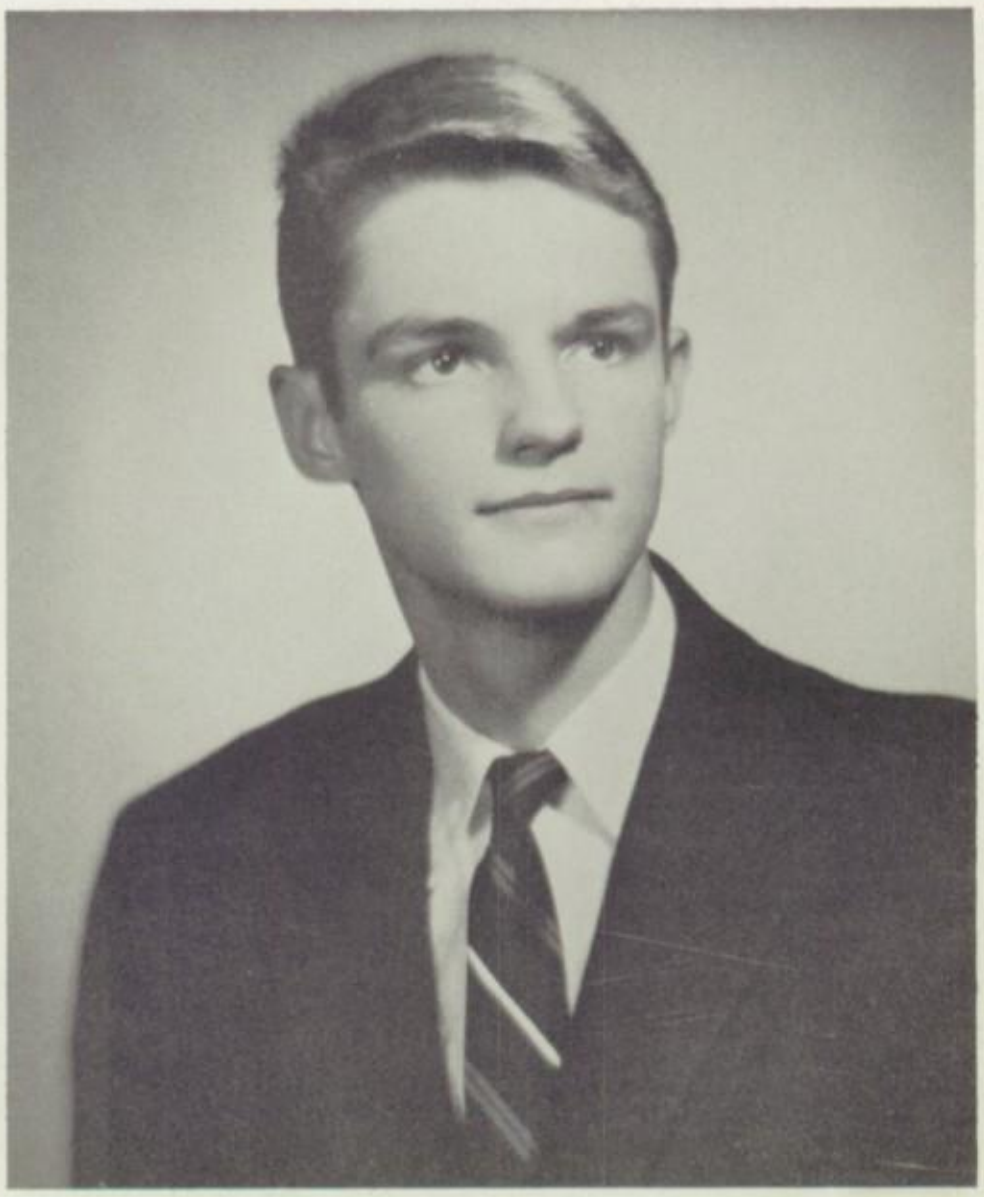
PHILLIP NELSON SMITH

When Phil Smith entered Webb as a junior, he quietly went to work to accomplish that for which he had come. The goal that he set for himself of getting the most he could out of a prep-school education can be said to have been reached when he was awarded, this year, the much coveted membership into the Cum Laude Society.

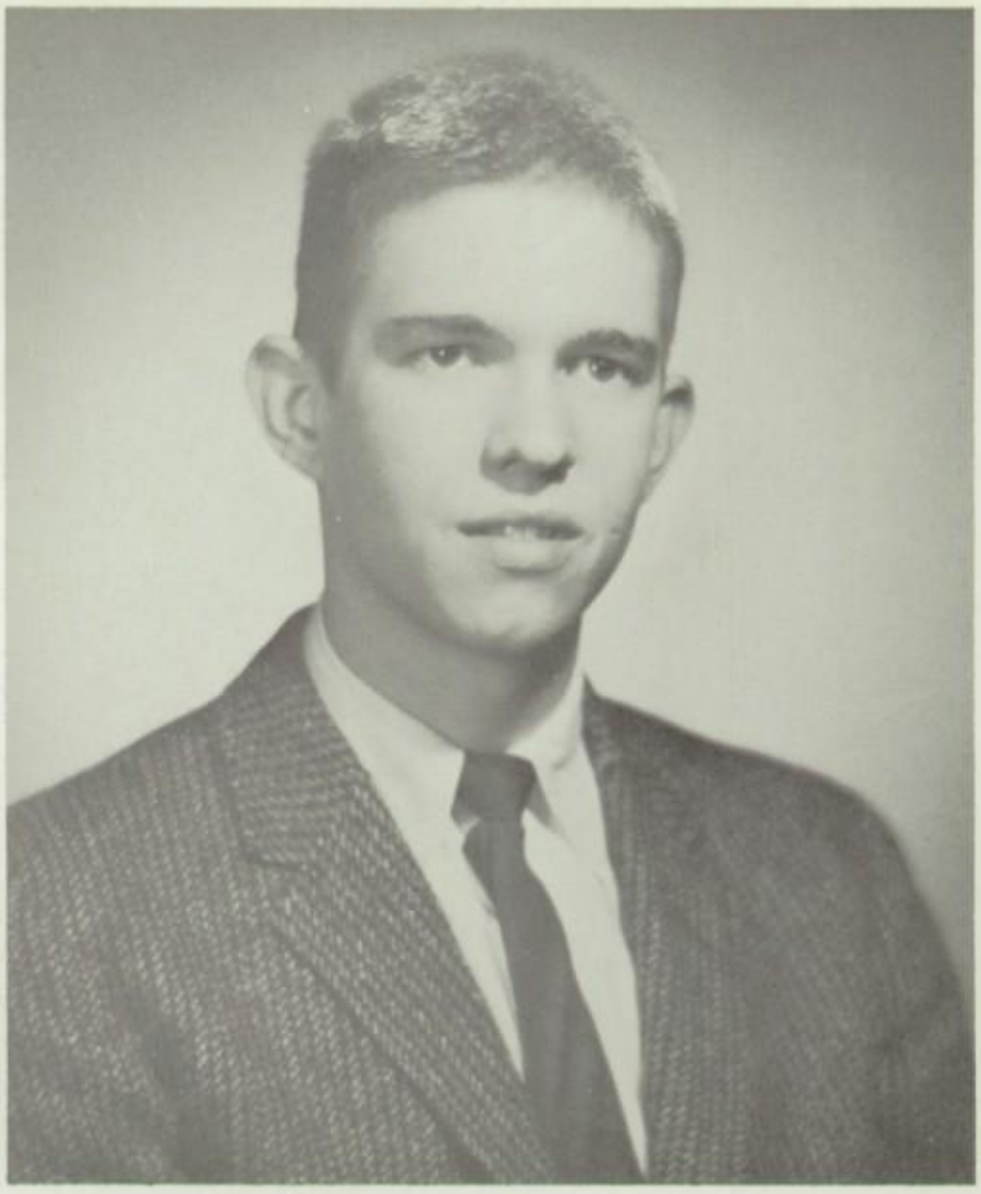
He has been a member of the Hamilton Debating Society during his two years at Webb, serving one time as Marshal. He has also been a member of the Dramatics Club both his junior and senior years. In addition to his literary activities he has taken part in several sports being a member of the track team in his senior year and playing basketball both years that he has been here.

Achievements

Hamilton Debating Society 3, 4, Marshal 3; Cum Laude Society 4; Dramatics Club 3, 4; Basketball 3, 4; Track 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.



SENIORS



MURRAY RUDOLPH SUMMERS

Murray hails from the state of Alabama. Coming to Bell Buckle in the fall of 1956, his first days at Webb were like those of any other Webb boy. His jokes and witticisms soon had the whole student body amused. From the beginning of his first term Murray took a great interest in all types of learning offered, and as a result he has had very good marks. He has not confined himself, however, to books alone and his interest in extra-curricular activities has been widespread. In debating and dramatics, especially, he has done notable work. He has had leading roles in three of the four plays produced since he has been at Webb, and was chosen as one of the final debaters. Murray plans to study medicine and will enter the University of the South in September.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 3, 4, President 4, Vice-President 3, 4, Secretary 3, 4, Final Debater 4; Winner Junior-Senior Declamation Contest; Oracle 3, 4, News Editor 4; SAWNEY 4, News Editor 4; Dramatics Club 3, 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.

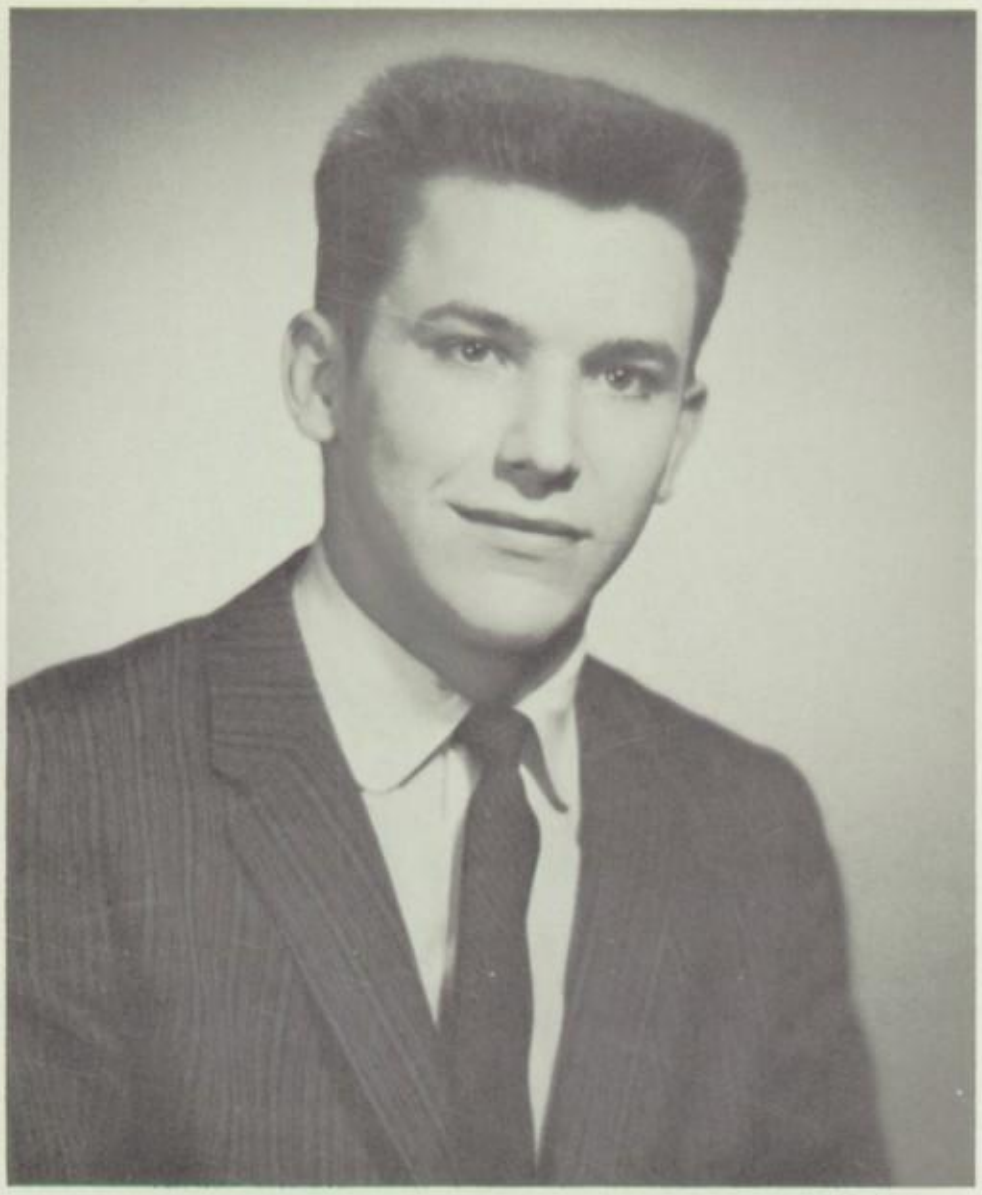
STANLEY LEROY TAYLOR

Stanley can be proud of his accomplishments at Webb. From the beginning of his stay here, he sought to make his schooling worthwhile. He has worked hard and consequently has reaped a rich reward for his labors. As editor of the Oracle he has done a consistently conscientious job. Highly dependable, Stanley has been called on to fill a number of positions in school and has done them efficiently. His grades have been high and in the field of sports he has shown himself equally proficient. Stanley has served as chairman of the Honor Committee this year—a position to be proud of—and has filled it with distinction. He plans to attend Washington and Lee University next year, preparatory to becoming a corporation lawyer.

Achievements

Platonic Debating Society 1, 2, 3, 4, President 3, 4, Vice-President 3, Secretary 3, Marshal 3, Yearly Secretary 4, Mid-term Debater 2, 3, Alternate Final Debater 4; Prefect 4; Dormitory Council 2; Honor Committee 2, 3, 4, President 4; President Class 3; Oracle 2, 3, 4, Editor 4; SAWNEY 4, Assistant Editor 4; Winner Freshman-Sophomore Commencement Oratorical Contest 1; Boy Scouts 2, Senior Patrol Leader 2; Chess Club 2; Football 2; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Tennis 2, 3, 4; Dramatics Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Years at Webb 1, 2, 3, 4.

SENIORS



THAD NICHOLAS THOMAS

Thad came to Webb from McComb, Mississippi, and he at once set up the practice of hard work with good results. Thad, better known, perhaps, to the student body as "Nicky," is a boy whose qualities of industry and integrity deserve the respect of all Webb School. In his two years at Webb he has become one of its most popular boys and one of its most successful. His grades have been good from the beginning of his stay here and he has maintained an enviable scholastic average. He is good not only in his class work but is outstanding in athletics also. He played football in his junior year, but basketball, which he played both years, is his specialty.

As Thad returns to his home state to finish his education, he can look back with pride on his days at Webb.

Achievements

Speech Class 3, 4; Prefect 4; Oracle 4; Football 3, 4; Basketball 3, 4; Track 3, 4; Years at Webb 3, 4.

THOMAS CARLISLE WHITSITT

Tommy Whitsitt came to Webb School from Nashville, Tennessee, four years ago, and he has made his stay here a successful one. His outstanding grades have not only been a credit to him but also to his school. His jovial manner and dry wit have made for him many lasting friends both in school and out. Excellence has been his goal and he has never failed to reach it, whether in class, debating society, or on the athletic field. The school has rewarded him with membership in the Cum Laude Society, and the Hamilton debating Society elected him to be one of their final debaters.

Tommy's career in Webb may well be an example for lower classmen to emulate. With his scholastic background he will have no trouble in maintaining his standing in college or in making a success of his later life.

PATRICK THOMAS WORLEY

Pat Worley, better known to his schoolmates as "Tex," has in his two years at Webb made himself so much a part of the school and its activities that he will be very greatly missed when he departs for Texas in June. His friendly "howdy" and his infectious grin are keynotes to his well rounded personality and have done much to gain for him the friendships he has made at Webb.

His life, spent on army posts the world over, has given him a broad outlook which is of great value to him in getting along with people.

He is a hard worker and does well whatever is assigned to him, either in the class room or in the realm of extra-curricular activities. He has been a valuable adjunct to many organizations of which he has been a member, for his boundless energy and willingness to help others keep him always on the move. Wherever he goes to college, that institution will be the gainer.

To us, who have been at Webb for the past four years, the time seems to have gone by with the speed of lightning. At times the days and weeks have seemed to pass at a snail's pace, but the whole time has gone by so quickly that it seems like only yesterday that we arrived in Bell Buckle and were indoctrinated into a new life.

Many of us had never been away from home for so long as a school year, and it was with great apprehension that we entered this new environment. Consequently, the first few weeks were filled with homesickness, unrest, and worry. Time, however, is a balm of all ills; as the year progressed we became a part of our new life, and having to settle down to work, we soon learned how fleeting time could be.

These four years we have spent were marked by countless events, both large and small, but nevertheless unforgettable. The small things tend to linger in our minds even more than do many of the important ones: the traditional reading of the first Psalm, holidays, nicknames, standing jokes, swimming at Fairfield, and "bull sessions."

In four years we have come to know the faculty and to respect them. We have made many strong friendships. Therefore, as the time for our graduation grows near, although many of us never dreamed that we would make it, we are actually sorry to leave, for it means the breaking of associations that we have cherished for so long. If it is not with tears in our eyes, it is certainly with sorrow in our hearts, that we bid goodby to Webb School.

OLD GUARD

Dear Seniors-to-be,

During this year, we, the class of 1958 have enjoyed your help and support. We are grateful to you who have been our good friends here at Webb.

Next year, you will be the seniors of Webb School. With the prestige of that name, you will also bear its responsibilities. It is to you that the younger boys will look for leadership and encouragement. It is your example, good or bad, that they will follow. Beginning next September, you must accept this obligation and, by the conscientious fulfillment of your duties here, lead the other boys to uphold the fine traditions and high ideals that are the heart and soul of this school.

This time next year, as your years at Webb are coming to an end, you will value greatly the friendships that you have formed here with teachers and with other fellow-students and, while you look with eagerness to the future, you will begin to share the sorrow we feel now in leaving. But you will meet that future with more courage and satisfaction if you can look back on your last year here with a feeling of pride in a job well done.

As we say goodbye to you, we hope that your senior year will be filled with success and that the members of our class and of yours may often meet to share again, in memory, the happy times we have had here at Webb.

Good luck to you all,

The prefect system, unlike most of Webb's other honored institutions, was recently evolved and in spite of its youth, it has gained the respect of Webb's faculty as well as its students. For two years it has been doing a tremendous job as a highly respected medium between the faculty and the students.

This body is composed of senior boys who are held in the highest esteem by the underclassmen. Each of these boys is chosen for his leadership and the respect he deserves from all those with whom he has been associated.

The duties of the prefects consist mainly of retaining high moral conditions among the students and acting as a supervisor of the dormitories to which they have been assigned. These duties involve a great deal of responsibility and to perform these tasks, the boys are given authority similar to that of a teacher.

The prefects are chosen partly by a vote of the students, partly by a decision of the faculty, and partly by a decision of Mr. Follin. By noting the way they are chosen, one cannot help realizing that only the "top notch" boys can be chosen for these honorable positions.

THE HONOR COMMITTEE

A major function of Webb, which was created, developed, and is operated entirely by the student body, is its Honor Committee. It was suggested by a group of students shortly after the school's foundation in 1870 as a medium between the faculty and the student body, and to this date has served its creator's purposes ably and justly. The Honor Committee is composed of carefully elected members of each class—four seniors, including the Senior Prefect automatically, three juniors, two sophomores, one freshman appointed by the principal, and one observer from the lower school, also appointed. These important members of the student body are honored and respected by the entire school. This group symbolizes a major aim of Webb School; that is the preparation of the student for adult life through the creation of an adult atmosphere at Webb. It is the committee's duty to pass judgments upon fellow students and friends, and, as can be imagined, their task is not in the least an easy one.

The Honor Committee has been directly responsible for installing a high degree of integrity in all Webb students; hence, it is responsible for the continuance of the reputation for honesty which Webb graduates inevitably possess.

CUM LAUDE SOCIETY

Founded at the Tome School in 1906, the Cum Laude Society is a nationally recognized honorary scholarship society for secondary schools. To hold membership in this society, which has chapters in most of the leading secondary schools, a school must be operating as a non-profit organization. This fact held Webb back for a number of years.

Webb founded a chapter in 1953. The membership of the chapter, composed of students in the top fifth of their class, is considered conclusive evidence of high scholastic achievement.

Fred Rudder, Potter Cantrell, Buford Anderson, and Tommy Whitsitt were elected in the close of their Junior year, at the commencement ceremony, as one-tenth of our quota.

Phil Smith and Joe Murphy were notified in their Senior year at mid-term, February 12th.

THE OCTET

Since music has been enjoyed generally, and because it is capable of expressing profound thoughts and is pleasing to the ear, many organizations have been formed for the making and enjoying of various kinds of music. So thought the founders of the Octet of Webb School. The date of its origin is obscure, but seems to have occurred about the time Mrs. Rosenberg became a teacher. The name Octet comes from the Latin octo, meaning eight, because the original had eight members. Down through the years, the membership of the Octet has increased and decreased many times, but the organization still retains the given name.

As to subject matter, the Octet sings everything except "rock and roll." It offers something to everyone. This is to insure the enjoyment and the cooperation of all members. Only through teamwork and practice can it offer the best entertainment of which it is able to produce. This is a rule impressed upon the members by their able director, Mrs. Emma Rosenberg.

In the past, the members of the Octet have derived a great amount of pleasure from this organization, at the same time allowing others to enjoy the fruits of their labor. Their sincere hope is that their programs have been enjoyed by all and that in the future they will continue their successful past.

DEBATORS

On September 14, 1958, the Hamilton Literary Society launched into another year of forensic activities. This year has produced many good debates and extemporaneous speeches.

Breaking an old tradition, the society held inter-society debates other than the usual mid-term and final debates. Each society sent a team of debators to the opposing group and both spoke on the same topic, one of special interest at the time. "Resolved: That Governor Faubus was justified in his actions concerning the Arkansas school." Although the Hamilton teams held different sides of the question, they were victorious in both cases.

Pete Blanton and Chuck Bucke were elected to be the mid-term debators while Henry Whiteside was made alternate. The question for the debate was, "Resolved: That foreign aid should be substantially increased." The Hamilton team did an excellent job of upholding the affirmative and this was considered an excellent debate by all. The Hamiltons defeated the Platonics in this debate after a two hour argument of mixed moods. There were humorous as well as serious parts, and the debate was greatly enjoyed by all attending.

For the Final Debate Tommy Whitsitt and Peter Smith were chosen to represent the Hamiltons with Wells Garden serving as alternate. The question was "Resolved: That the best interests of the states involved and the nation will be enhanced if the southern states will cease to resist the edict of the Supreme Court and will integrate their schools as prescribed by the Federal Courts."

Along with extemporaneous speaking and declamation, the debators have upheld the Hamilton tradition and helped to write another glowing page in the annals of its history.

FIRST OFFICERS

At Webb, debating has always been considered one of the most important extra-curricular activities and has always been one of the most popular. A significant feature of Webb's forensic activities has been the keen competition between the two sister societies, the Hamiltons and the Platonics. In recent years, however, the popularity of debating has increased. The membership of both societies had increased to such a point that they were too large for efficient operation. Because of this fact, one of Webb's oldest traditions has been broken.

Immediately following the beginning of the second term, Mr. Follin announced that plans had been made for a new literary society which would be called the 'Jeffersonian Literary Society. This new group would be composed of freshmen and sub-freshmen. It would be organized on the same general basis of the older societies with a constitution, officers, and regular debates.

On February 8, 1958, this new group was first called to order and officers were elected. Ken Chandler was chosen president; Mack O'Brien, vice-president; Cyril Fraser, secretary; Eddy Bradley, marshal. A vigorous schedule of debates, lectures, and instruction in debating was arranged.

The purpose of the new society is to give the younger group a firm foundation in debating. This will be quite useful in later years. This program is especially designed to fit the needs of boys who have had no previous debate experience. Through lectures and personal research, the members learn all the skills of debating. With debating the society seeks to develop the other branches of the science of oratory. Extemporaneous speaking ability, the art of declamation, and other rhetorical arts are heavily stressed.

The society has had a successful year and has produced some excellent debators. The prospects seem bright for further advancement.

DEBATORS

The year 1958 can very deservingly be called the year of progress in the Platonic Society. From the first meeting, the society members established their desire to achieve a clearly superior record, and in the apparent interest and enthusiasm of the members, this has been demonstrated. Programs ranging from formal debates, through extemporaneous debates, to dramatic readings on a lighter scale, have been well planned, prepared, and executed.

The Society sponsored an intersociety debate, a new-type debate never before executed, other than the mid-term and final debates. The primary purposes of this debate, held in early October, was to create more interest in the Society and to help screen talent for the mid-term debate. Two teams were elected to compete with the sister society on the same topic.

In late November, three distinguished underclassmen were elected to the posts of mid-term debators. Frank Hull and Charles Bass were chosen as the debators with Stuart Brown as the alternate. Meeting the Hamilton Opposition early in April, this team was defeated, with difficulty.

The Mid-Term Debate is one of the newer of Webb traditions, having received its start in the early 1920's.

In early spring, Buford Anderson and Murray Summers were elected to the high and extremely important position of Final debators. Stanley Taylor was elected alternate.

These leaders of the society meet during the commencement week with the opposing society's team and present their debate.

Foundations have been laid to see that the Platonic Literary Society will continue to function outstandingly.

DRAMATIC CLUB •

The presentations of the Dramatics Club have long been highlights of the school year.

In the past years the Club has given such outstanding plays as "The Hasty Heart," "The Solid Gold Cadillac," "The Prisoner," and "Criminal at Large." The two productions this year were "Arsenic and Old Lace," and "St. Joan."

"Arsenic and Old Lace," a long time favorite on Broadway, was a great success in its Webb premier. Henry Whiteside and Pete Blanton as Abbie and Martha Brewster gave creditable performances in their portrayal of the two scheming old ladies. John Brown, as Teddy Brewster, kept the audience in constant laughter, while Tom McKinny was very convincing as the unsuspecting nephew. Murray Summer's portrayal of the wayward nephew and Bill Powers as his accomplice were very convincing and won high acclaim from those who saw the play. Others in the production were Stanley Taylor, Chuck Bucke, Charles Bass, Mike Larkan, and Robert Larkan.

"St. Joan"

Excellent cooperation on the part of all the actors in the play helped to make it a success.

The final presentation of the year was George Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan." Marcia Manley was cast for the title role and she turned in a praiseworthy job of acting. Others having major roles in the productions were Bob McDowell, Bill Powers, John Brown, Wells Garden, Henry Whiteside, and Le Conte Haddock. A great deal of credit is due to the aforementioned as they carried out their parts in superior fashion. Hard work and long hours of practice paid off for all concerned as the final play of the year was one of the best in several seasons at Webb.

The great success which the Dramatics Club has enjoyed over the past year is largely due to the hard work and perseverence of the director, Mr. Mack Harris Scott III. Mr. Scott's professional-like direction over the past years has given Webb some of its best plays.

Credit is also due to the stage crew headed by Buford Anderson, and also Bill Powers who did an excellent job as electrician.

Officers of club are Wells Garden, John Brown, and Peter Smith.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee, under the direction of Mr. Mack Harris Scott III, sponsored the dances held this year by Webb School. Due to unfavorable circumstances only two dances were given this year instead of the usual three.

The fall dance was held in November in the gymnasium, which was tastefully decorated in autumn colors. Music was furnished by The Casuals, and the dance was a very enjoyable affair.

The spring dance, scheduled for May 17, was quite a success, from the standpoint of music, decorations and visitors.

A large number of visiting beauties came to Bell Buckle to add their charm to the spring scene from many neighboring states as well as from cities and towns of Tennessee.

The orchestra was good with enough variety in its selections to please everybody.

THE BAND

The Webb Band, under the direction of Mrs. Emma Rosenberg, is one of many extra-curricular activities at Webb. However, this group often does not receive the recognition due it. Unlike public school bands, the Webb Band is made up of a group of musicians who furnish their own instruments and have previously learned to read music.

The Webb Band is not offered many opportunities to perform, but when the time comes, they do their job well and commendably. They have often presented chapel programs. At Christmas they present the annual Christmas Concert; at Easter, a concert also.

As the school year draws to an end, and the busy seniors get ready for graduation, the Webb Band is also busy at work. They must play for graduation, a task which must be done with accuracy and dignity, and as in the past, this group has done an exceedingly well job.

THE CURRENT EVENTS CLUB

The Current Events Club, one of the little known organizations of the school, had a definite pick-up this year over the past few years due to the sponsorship of Mr. Weaver.

This club is traditionally designed to give boys an opportunity to discuss the happenings in the world at the present. It is open to boys of all ages and has proven to be a very educational organization, and it has also been a buffer to the debating societies since it stimulates an interest in the minds of boys concerning daily events. Weekly round table discussions are held, providing speech practices for the members, who receive no such training from a debating society.

For these weekly discussions, those boys are appointed by the President to familiarize themselves with interesting topics, so they will be prepared to answer questions asked them the following week. The favorite topics are: Russian and American Scientific Discoveries and Advancements; segregation and labor.

The officers for the current events club this year are Chuck Bucke, president; Ed Smith, secretary and marshal.

THE BOY SCOUTS

Webb's Boy Scouts, Troop 336, started the year with the election of officers. Joe Murphy was elected to the office of Junior Assistant Scoutmaster and Aubrey Harwell took the position of Senior Patrol Leader. Stuart Goldstone became scribe and Dan Flournoy, quartermaster.

For the Scouts, this has been a successful and enjoyable year. There have been several camping trips as well as other activities of interest.

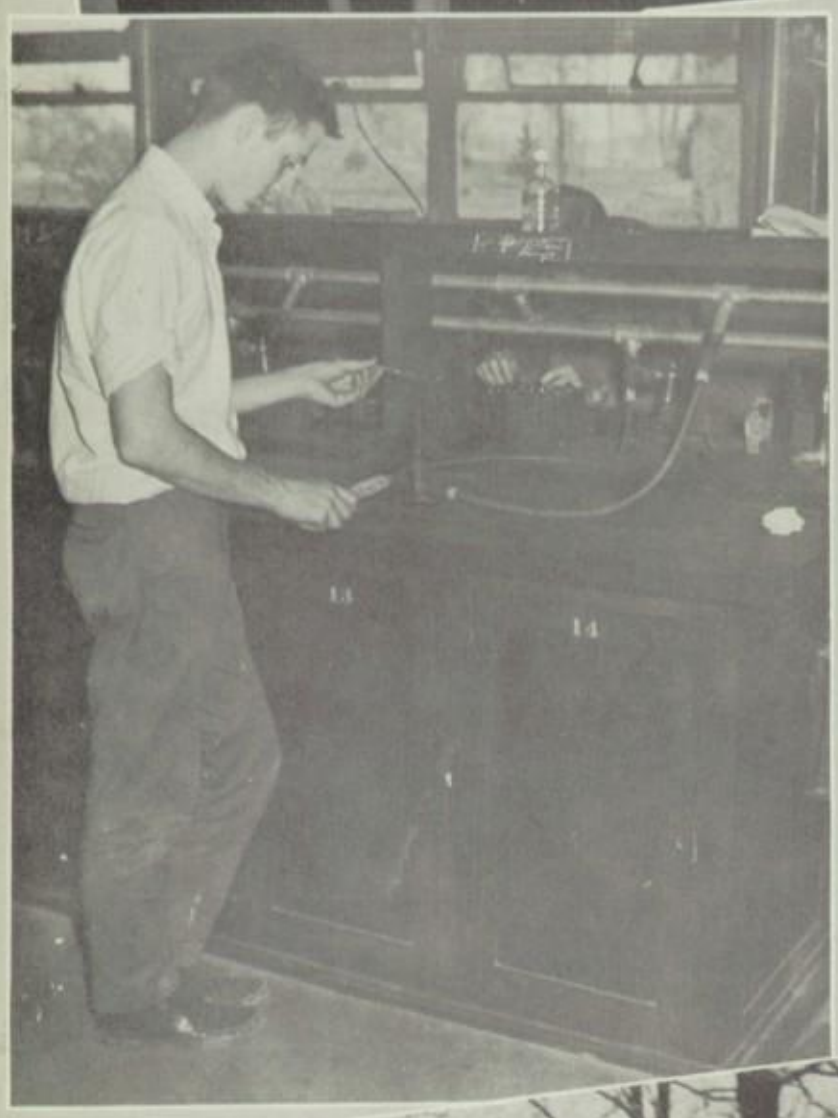
Although there has been little advancement, fortunately there are many high ranking boys in the troop. The Eagle Scouts have provided excellent assistance to the leaders both in scoutcraft and advancement.

The Troop leaders are Scoutmaster Lucas Boyd and Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Weaver. Both are competent in outdoor lore, as has been illustrated on the camping trips. Due to their efforts, new equipment has been procured. The Troop now has a large number of tents, cooking utensils, and various tools.

The Troop has had one Court of Honor this year. Although few badges of rank were given out, insignia were presented to the officers.

The Scouts also had a party at the first of the year. Cokes and cookies were served and it was enjoyed by all.

The four patrols are under the leadership of Bennet Files, John Forsythe, Jay Clark, and John Barbee.



SPORTS

FOOT

Within a week after school had started, football, the first of the intramural sports at Webb, was beginning to get underway.

The first game of the year was a continuation of the hot rivalry between the Tigers and the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs edged by the Tigers in this game 7-0. Halfback Ed Montgomery plunged over guard six yards for the only score, mid-way in the fourth quarter. Jack Exum, Bulldog fullback, and Mike Larkan, Tiger fullback, led in rushing with 90 and 78 yards respectively. This game lacked the precision of the games which were to follow as it was marked throughout by fumbles; however, this was made up for by the very high spirits of the players.

In their second meeting of the year, the Tigers came storming back, but had to play hard to chalk up a 13-12 victory. The Bulldogs received the opening kickoff but were unable to move the ball against the stubborn Tiger line. The ball changed hands four times during the quarter with neither team being able to get an offensive started. In the second quarter, the Tigers came to life as they scored in eight plays with end Stuart Brown catching a sixteen yard pass from Bill Durden for the score.

The try for the extra point was stopped. The Bulldogs fumbled the ensuing kickoff and the Tigers recovered and began a sustained drive which was climaxed by a one yard drive by halfback Jay Clark for the T.D. Bill Durden added the extra point which later proved to be of utmost importance. Two-thirds of the way through the third quarter the Bulldogs gained control of the ball and kept it until they finally scored well into the fourth quarter. Fred Silverstein added this marker on a one yard run. The try for the point was nullified by a penalty. After this came one of the biggest breaks of the game as the Bulldogs recovered the kickoff before a Tiger could reach the ball. Four plays later, Chuck Bucke scored the Bulldog's second touchdown in thirty seconds on a quarterback sneak. Jack Exum's end run for the extra point was stopped to save the game for the Tigers.

The final and decisive game of the year was set for Thanksgiving Day. Four hours before game time, rain began to descend in torrents and continued to do so up to game time.

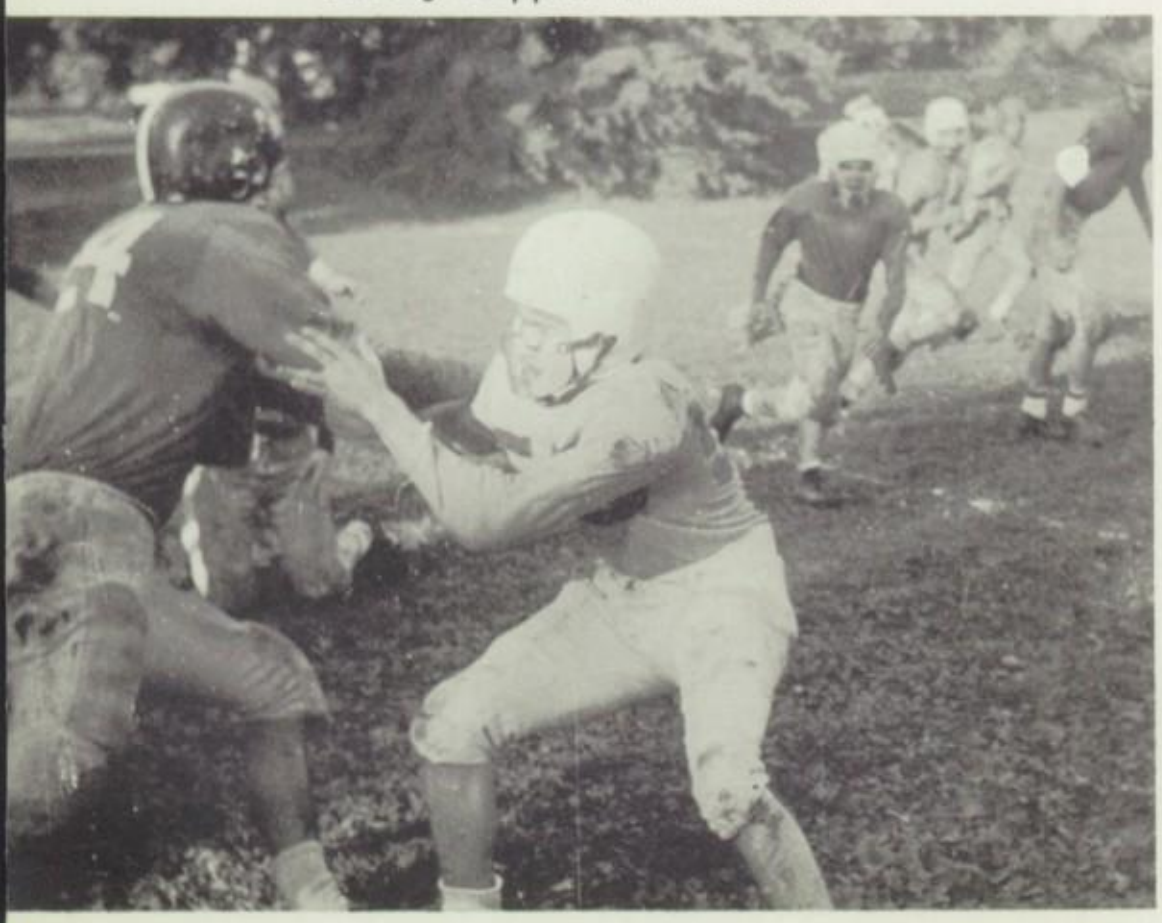
Bulldog Stopped for No Gain



In the final seconds of the game, the Tigers gained possession of the ball when Bill Durden picked up a Bulldog fumble and ran it out to his own twenty-five yard line. This kept the Bulldogs from an almost sure touchdown as they were on the Tiger two yard line. A desperation pass by the Tigers fell incomplete to end the game.

Buford Anderson's quintet were triumphant in "B" League competition, while the team led by Jim Barnett won out in "C" League.

At the end of regular league play a tournament was held in all three leagues. The irony of the tournaments was that no league champion was able to win a tournament. The winners in the tournaments were: "A" League—Ron Gresham. "B" League—Vernon Richmond. "C" League—Fred Sharp.

In mid-December Webb played Bell Buckle High School on the latter's home court, with Bell Buckle winning 51 to 38. Both teams played even ball through the first quarter. From this point on Bell Buckle began to steadily increase their lead as their superior speed began to pay off. Fred Silverstein led the Webb team with ten points. Bell Buckle's Jerry Vanatta took top honors for the game as he scored eighteen points.

As usual the chief competition in basketball came in Tiger-Bulldog play. The Bulldogs emerged victorious from the best two-out-of-three series as they won the first and third games.

The first game was very exciting as the Bulldogs edged by the Tigers by the score of 32 to 31.

BASKETBALL •

In early December, basketball, the largest of Webb's intramural sports got underway.

To start the season the school was divided into "A", "B", "C" leagues. Captains were: "A" League—Ronnie Gresham, Lee Marbury, Thad Thomas, and Pat Worley. In "B" League—Buford Anderson, John Barbee, Cecil Gibson, and Vernon Richmond. "C" League—James Barnett, John Forsythe, and Fred Sharp.

League play continued for about six weeks at the end of which Pat Worley's team captured the "A" League flag.

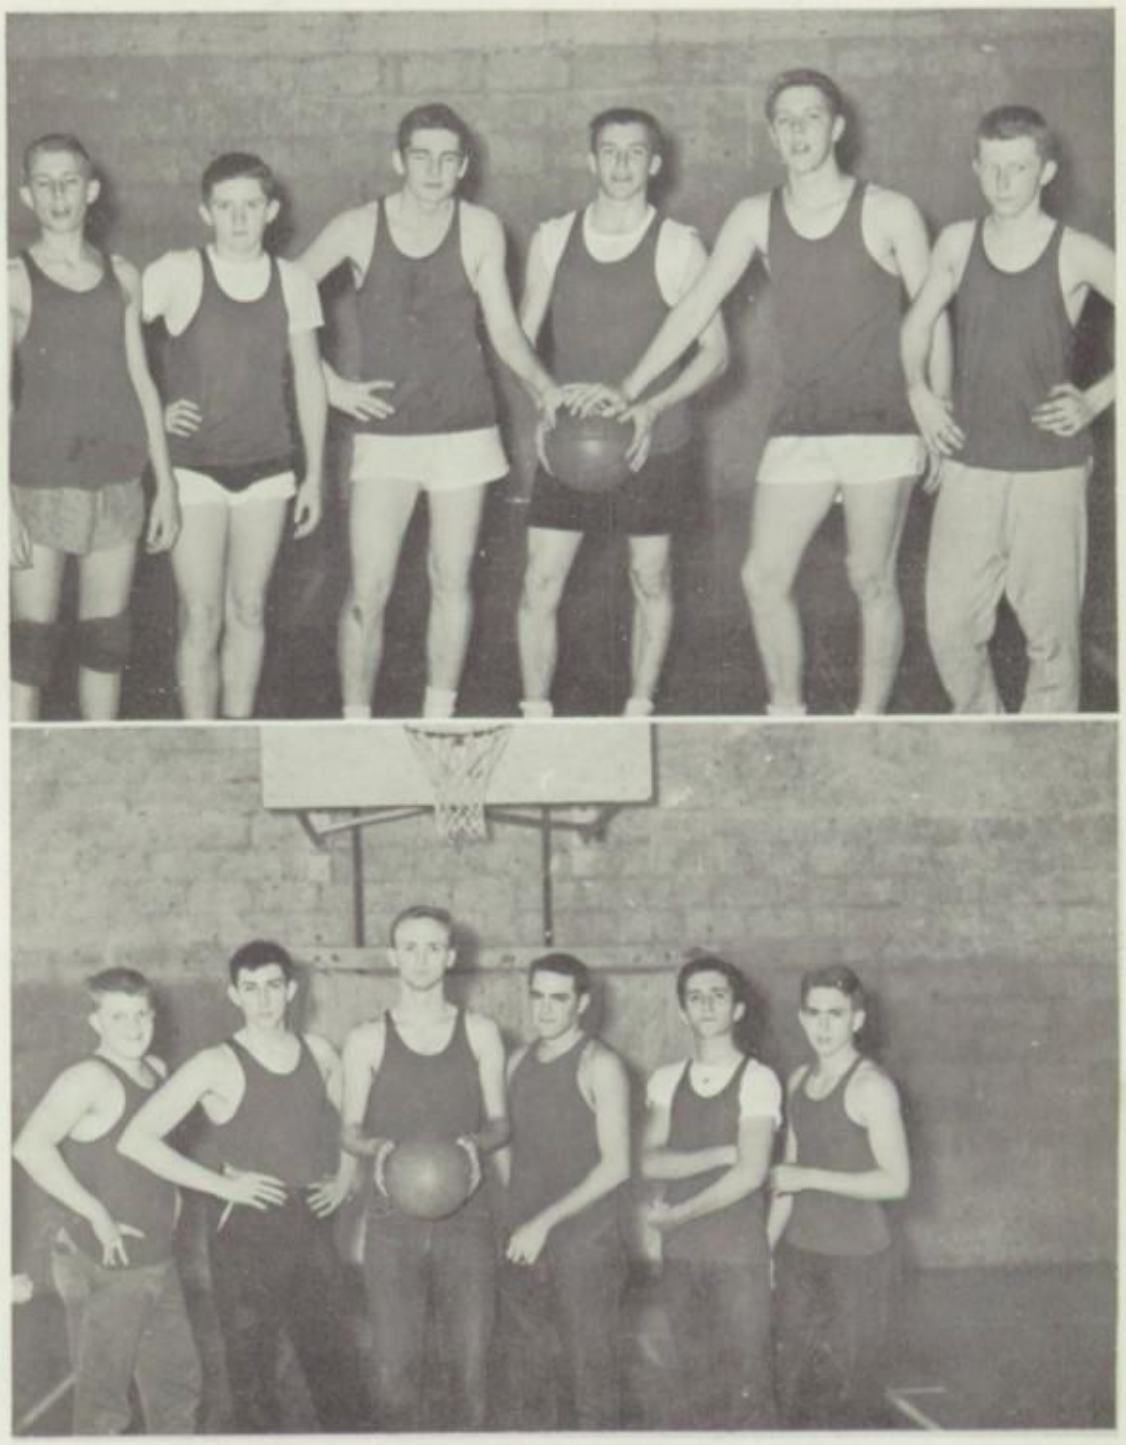
Webb vs. Bell Buckle

The Bulldogs led most of the way, but in the fading seconds of the game the Tigers staged a rally and almost overtook them. Pat Worley, Bulldog forward, led the scoring as he had twelve points. Selden Spenser and Thad Thomas led the Tigers with ten and nine points respectively.

The Tigers came back strongly to win the second game of the series by a score of 30 to 24. A very good first quarter proved to be the deciding factor for the Tigers as they led at the end of the first quarter by the score of 12 to 3. The Bulldogs narrowed the Tiger lead in both the third and fourth quarters but were unable to overtake them. Thad Thomas led the Tigers with sixteen points to take high scoring honors.

The third and final game of the series was very exciting as the Bulldogs won in three overtime periods by the score of 54 to 51. A field goal by Chuck Bucke won the game in a "sudden death" overtime for the Bulldogs.

As the whistle sounded to end the fourth quarter, the score was deadlocked. Also, at the end of the first and second overtimes the score was deadlocked. But after a minute and fifty seconds had elapsed in the third overtime period, Chuck Bucke hit a sixteen foot jumpshot to end the game.



Before the Game

• BASKETBALL

The Tiger's Thomas was high point man with twenty-three points and Bucke was next with twenty-one.

The final tourney of the year was between the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes with them finishing in that order.

The Sophomores, after defeating the Freshmen, came close to upsetting both the Senior and Junior classes. Spenser was the big gun for the Sophomores.

The Seniors defeated the Juniors in the finals. Thad Thomas was the outstanding player for the champs while Silverstein led the Juniors.

BASEBALL

To round out the sports year here at Webb, baseball was begun in mid-April.

As is true with most of Webb's intramural sports, "A," "B," "C" leagues were organized. For about two weeks, drills were held and after a few practice sessions, the players began to get their batting eyes back and the pitchers their arms loosened.

After a few weeks of league play, the Tigers and Bulldogs resumed their rivalry which is traditional in all sports here at Webb.

Baseball here at Webb not only attracts a large number of participants but also at every game many spectators turned out to cheer for their favorite teams.

TRACK

Webb's track season has been considerably lengthened this year with the addition of a second track meet.

As usual there was a meet between the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes. However, this year there was also a Tiger-Bulldog meet. Also scheduled for early April was the two mile cake race, which has long been a tradition here at Webb.

The class meet was, as usual, dominated by the upper classes. However, some very good runners came out of the lower classes.

This year was the first time that the Tigers and Bulldogs have met in track. This provided some very exciting races and added greatly to the interest in sports here at Webb.

TENNIS

Tennis, long one of Webb's minor sports, has over the past few years become one of the most popular warm weather sports at Webb.

With almost half of the student body actively interested in the fall of the year, a tournament was opened when warm weather returned in the spring. A surprisingly high number of players signed up for the tourney and much keen competition was provided. Last year's tournament champion, Stanley Taylor, was back to defend his title this year as the number one position is a very coveted position to hold.

THE HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '58

The freshman class of 1955 has not been unlike other classes in its tedious grind toward the position of senior class at Webb School. Although those big seniors whom we admired in our freshman year have been replaced by ourselves, it is difficult to realize the change that has taken place without recording the main events which produced this change over four long years, inevitably filled by precious memories. That overawed and confused class in 1955 did not realize the heritage of over eighty-five years of tradition which began to unfold gradually with the reading of the first Psalm and with the signing of the pledge, but now, at long last, we begin to feel the real importance of being Webb students.

That first year, our officers were: Travis Oliver, president; Potter Cantrell, vice-president; Joe Murphey, secretary; Tim Martin, marshal; Eddie Maupin, honor man. The orientation period of the first several months for our small class of seventeen saw us sink our fangs into a broad variety of the many school activities. We gained more recognition for our participation in sports than in any other field. During this year, we sank our roots deeply into Webb's tradition and ideals, and all but four of us were determined to return.

We increased our number to twenty-three the next year, and in our first meeting the officers elected were: Eddie Maupin, president; Wells Garden, vice-president; Charles Crabtree, secretary-treasurer; Bobby McDowell, marshal; Stanley Taylor and Travis Oliver, honor men. This year we increased our proficiency in the extra-curricular activities that we had begun so successfully. Sports dominated our interests once again. Several of us, however, were in the two dramatic productions and one was a mid-term debator. It was in this year that we began to develop the leadership that we would need in our senior year by taking a more active part in all school life.

With the addition of many to our class the next year our class grew to thirty-seven in our junior year. Stanley Taylor was elected president; Ernest Edenton, vice-president; Wells Garden, secretary; Potter Cantrell, marshal; and Stanley Taylor, Buford Anderson, and Potter Cantrell, honor men. Our large increase in size provided much more material for school activities; consequently, we were more successful in all our endeavors. We provided the seniors with stiff sports competition the entire year, winning several special recognitions in football, basketball, and track. Sportsmanship and a desire to play the game well were our hallmarks. We provided the crux of both debating societies, and five of the six mid-term debators came from our class. We led such organizations as the Boy Scouts, the Current Events Club, the Band, and the Chess Club; we provided the main bodies for others.

Thus far, nothing has been said about our scholarship, but this is certainly not because we were lacking in this essential phrase, for our class had never been idle. Consistently in our junior year, a large group of us found our names on the honor roll. In this year, too, we felt that we had acquired a great amount of spiritual, mental, and physical growth; a sufficient amount to return another year with the responsibilities of a Webb School senior.

When thirty of us returned for our senior year, it seemed extremely difficult to accept our new responsibilities, but we were determined to uphold the expectations placed upon our shoulders. As our class president we elected Ernest Edenton; as vice-president, Wells Garden; as secretary, Potter Cantrell; as marshal, Vernon Richmond; and as honor men, Buford Anderson, Potter Cantrell, Fred Rudder, and Stanley Taylor. Buford Anderson was placed in the position of Senior Prefect, and Stanley Taylor was elected president of the honor committee. We soon adopted ourselves to the positions of leaders in the school, but at the same time we retained the good humor and fun-loving qualities that we had possessed in our previous years. We led the school ably, justly, and commendably in all its phases, we hope. As commencement week drew near, we began to comprehend and appreciate all that we were indebted to this "home" for. We realized the quality of education, training, and friendship that we had received, and we saw for the first time the mature personality that had been molded over a long and tedious course. Our benefits were already very apparent in college acceptances and scholarships. We also realized that we were now the lengthened arm of the school, and that we still had the tremendous task of upholding the school's reputation and traditions before the school would become as proud of graduating us as we were of being graduated.

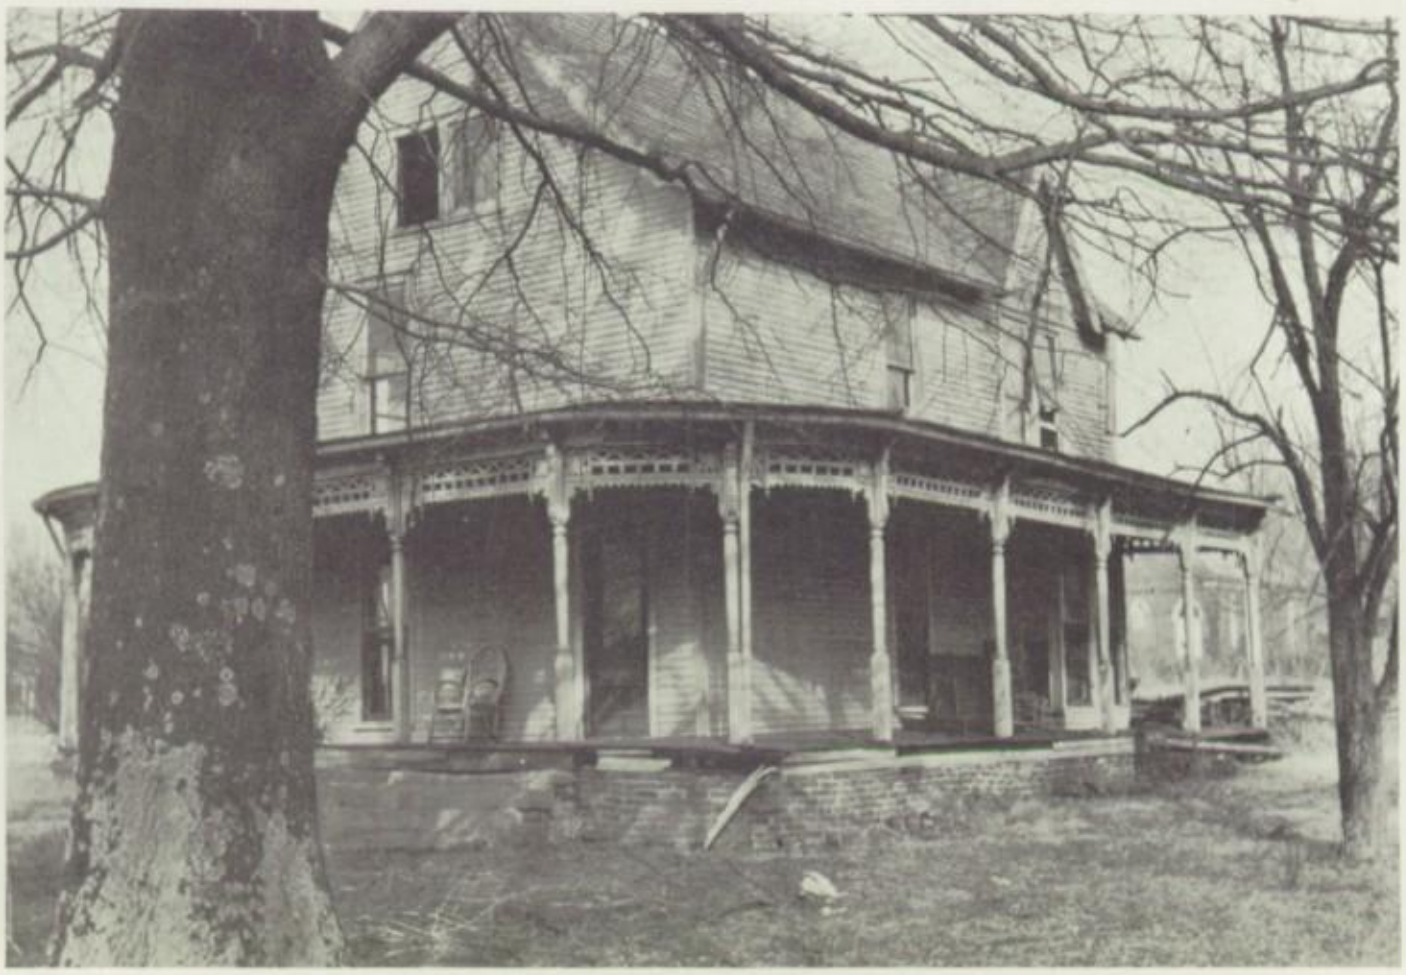
Dinner at Mr. Scott's



Sawney House?

SENIOR WILLS

I, Buford Anderson, leave my P. O. box, the ill-fated 196, along with its confusing combination, to Chuck Bucke, hoping that it may deliver the pleasures, confusions, and disillusions to him in the years to come as it has for me in the past.

I, James Barnett, will my Modern European grades to LeConte Haddock so that in the future he will not have to exert so much effort. I would also like to bequeath my driving ability to Ed Rhea.

I, Potter Cantrell, leave "C" wing to Fred Silverstein and Charles Bass; and to Bob King, I leave my wonderful study habits so that he can pass.

I, James Davis, will my nose to Jack Sineath, my nickname to Mr. Follin, and my prefect powers to whoever gets "D" wing next year.

I, Bill Durden, do hereby will my color or "Blackness" to Jack Nowell and my boat paddles to "Ape" Bill Jones.

I, James Eatherly, leave my "Twitch" to Ed Rhea so that he may keep the library quiet, and my broken doors to Henry Whiteside, and last, my ability to foil "Prefect" to Owen Collins.

I, Ernest Edenton, being of sound mind and wooly body, leave my nickname "Sheep" to anyone it fits. Also, I leave my "suck" to Jesse Heard who needs it.

I, Wells Garden, being of unsound mind and body, and estateless, do hereby will and bequeath my nickname, "Rumhead," to "Mighty Jim" Morris, who can uphold that tradition; I leave my share in the SAWNEY to "Tiny John Sow."

I, Duff Glenn, being of sound mind, hereby will my crazy walk and co-ordination to David (No, No) Williams.

I, Ronnie Gresham, being of sound mind and body, hereby will nothing to anybody; I need it worse than they do.

I, Glen Hall, hereby will my bongo drums to Lewis Bear, my room to John Brown, and my barber tools to "Whitey" Whiteside.

I, Mike Larkan, will my ability to go to the smoker and not to smoke to John King; my ability to play fullback and sidestep tacklers to Billy Roy; and my right to beat on Robert Atshuler to Jesse Heard.

I, Lee Levy, being of excellent mind and strong body, hereby leave my nickname, "Mr. Universe," to "Mouse" Brown and my knack for getting into trouble to Fred Silverstein.

I, Bob McDowell, leave my title to anyone whose ancestry fits the bill, my study habits to anyone who can use them and pass, and my ability to evade hours to Pete Blanton.

SENIOR WILLS

I, Joe Montgomery, being of sound mind, hereby will Jesse Heard to anyone that can handle him and the "H. R.'s" to Blanton, Morris, and Jones.

I, Joe Bledsoe Murphey, failing in mind and grades, do hereby bequeath my outstanding nose and my thrift to Noble Pace (lately troubled by a waste of oats in the feedbag).

I, Bill Powers, do hereby will my ability of flight through space to "Whitey" Whiteside and my knowledge of the use of the wheel to Owen Collins.

I, Vernon Richmond, leave Nancy to "Peach" Blanton; Bob King to Peggy.

I, Joe Rosenbaum, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will all of my Florida Sunshine to the unfortunate boys who do not live in Florida.

I, Fred Rudder II, being weak in mind and broken in body, will one black servant to sweep rooms, to polish boots, to make beds, and to serve in general to anyone foolish enough to take him.

I, Edward Smith, do hereby will the Bell Buckle drugstore to Noble Pace and Jim Morris since they already own a large portion of it.

I, Peter Smith, do hereby will my ability to get along with Mr. Follin to Andrew Yoder with the hope that his influence will exceed even mine.

I, Phil Smith, leave my ability to get the shaft on Valentine's Day to Pope Harrison.

I, Murray Summers, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my study habits to my faithful little brother, Duke Johnson; I also leave my famous nickname, "sheriff," to Wayne Preston.

I, Stanley Taylor, bequeath all of my Easter Eggs to John Marks, the Episcopal Church to J. C. Barbee and the boys, and my delightful portion of the school to anyone who wants it.

I, Thad Thomas, being of sound mind and low morality, do hereby will my title "Prince Thad" to "Mighty Jim" Morris on the condition that he will uphold its responsibility to the utmost of his ability.

I, Tommy Whitsitt, being of sound mind and broken spirit, do hereby bequeath American History to the birds from whence it came and my job (what fun) to Jim Morris who has shown promise in chemistry, more than any other student except James Eatherly.

I, Patrick Thomas Worley, possessing one (M.L.B.) do hereby bequeath the victorious Bulldogs to Chuck Bucke. To Vernon Richmond I leave my unconquered ducktails.

QUO VADIS POST MORTEM

As far as the world is concerned, I am the one remaining member of the class of '58. In my profession as pall bearer I have carried on the Webb tradition and have carried all the students; let me tell you their story.

I, Phil Smith, have seen them come and go. Today, I was pall bearer of the last one excluding myself. Joe Montgomery was buried this afternoon June 14, 2043. Gus, as he was commonly known, was the world's greatest dance instructor.

Lee Levy died about a year after he was finally kicked off of the Thomas estate, where he had been sponging since his graduation from Webb School. His last words were, "Who is Marie?"

Potter Cantrell died about three years before Lee. Potter had been a great success by monopolizing the zurp industry.

I don't know what happened to Bill Powers. The last time I saw him he was boarding a Lunar-earth rocket ship. It is suspected, however, that somewhere in flight, his head was severed from his neck by a small gamma ray.

I remember well how Joe Murphey and James Murry Davis met their fate. The day after graduation they met for the last time—a duel to the death. One stood on "Baldy" and the other on "Woody." The fight was resounded for miles around. It was a grave spectacle. Then all at once it was over; Murphey's nose struck home, instantly disemboweling James Murry; however, the blow, though fatal, was not a quick death-blow, so James Murry, with one deft swash, severed Murphey in two.

James Eatherly was one of the first to go. He was drafted into the army right after graduation. One day while he was cleaning out a garbage pail, he twitched and fell. We dragged him out three days later.

Bill Durden was hung by the K.K.K. on June 15, 1969, after making a speech proposing integration.

Thad Thomas died a natural death. He left to the world Emily, ten children, twenty-seven grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

Ernest Edenton was run over by a power mower. (He was probably asleep and Miss Sibyl wasn't there to awaken him.) It took several days to pick up the pieces.

Poor Fred Rudder was among the first to go. He worked himself to death during his first year of college.

Buford Anderson was executed when it was discovered that he had three wives from the Mississippi Delta.

Vernon Richmond was killed in a duel with Buford. It seems that they were both in love with Nancy.

Glen Hall was racing down a highway in his Corvette when it fell apart. While we were collecting the pieces, we found a piece that said, "Made in Japan."

Wells Garden, the notorious North Carolina gambler, was killed in a gun battle by Stanley Taylor, the Mississippi gambler. Taylor got suspicious when Garden turned up with six and a half aces five times consecutively. Taylor shot Wells in the head but not in time to escape the machine gun slugs from Garden's body guard, Micky Larkan.

After the battle, the hard man Larkan sought refuge in a nudist camp. I assume he is dead.

Bob McDowell met an unfortunate accident while touring the Jax Brewery in New Orleans. He fell into one of the kettles and drank himself to death. He was survived by his wife and fifteen children.

Peter Smith "two-timed" one too many women. One of his many girls caught up with him on the French Rivera and plunged a knife in his back.

Duff Glenn finally succeeded in doing what he wanted, which was to be a dentist. It did him little good, however, for one day while he was working on a small boy, his hand slipped and the drill went through it. He bled to death before they could get him to a veterinarian.

Edward Smith became a drug store tycoon. At the coroner's inquest, it was stated that he died of too much luxurious living.

Tex Worley became a cowboy star. One day on the set the prop man got the blanks and live ammunition mixed. Tex died with his boots on.

Murray Summers began his death while at Webb School by becoming a smoker. At the age of thirty-five he kicked the bucket. His last words were, "Mr. Follin was right."

Tommy Whitsitt became another Juan Fangio. During his last race, he was killed by the fumes from his own car.

Roger L. Hogans

Dear David,

It has been wonderful knowing you for the past three years. I hope we will always remain good friends. I really don't know what to say - although I will write this. I think you are one of the most wonderful boys I have ever met.

Love

Sue

Dear David, Sorry to see you change to Best of Luck in what you do. May your days and years be happy ones as much as you do now.

Love,

Mom

study hard
Mike

Good luck in what ever you may do,
even with a girl
I have known for 13 years.

Connie
Allred

Done a little prayer that will help on your blue days.

Lord Jesus, be with me today
wherever I go, and let no evil thought arise in my mind.
But if I am tempted, help me to remember that Thou art with me, and to turn to Thee for help. Amen.

It always helps so remember.

Always
Mrs. Allen

To Dave,

A real swell guy who has been a friends of our family ever since we have known you. I hope you well have lots of luck with whom ever you like in the future.

There are Golden ships and there are Silver ships
but the best ships are Friendships

Love always
Maje (Mickie)

P.S. Well always "love" you no matter what happens. I sure hope ~~Le~~ your feelings is the same
